4,000 LOST IN SAN PEDRO BATTLE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Torreón, Mexico, April 15.—More than 4,000 were killed and wounded in the battle of San Pedro De Las Colonias. Official advices received from General Villa today state that he lost 500 in killed and wounded while the Federal losses were 3,500 in killed, wounded and prisoners.

A large part of the town is in flames but Villa says his men will be able to get the fire under control.

The Federals abandoned all their dead and wounded in their flight and Villa captured eleven cannon, a great quantity of artillery, ammunition, hundreds of rifles, 100,000 rounds of rifle ammunition and more than forty car loads of provisions.

The defeat suffered by the Federals was the worst that has been inflicted upon them by the Constitutionalists. Villa believes they are demoralized and that he will find no difficulty at Monterey or Saltillo.

Thirty thousand men took part in the fighting which extended along a battle line of fully twenty miles. The Federals had 18,000 and fought from behind fortifications at many spots, but the relentless charges of Villa's 12,000 men could not be stopped.

On their retreat the Federals followed the railroad line and Villa sent several thousand men in pursuit. He will return here today and immediately map out his campaign for the movement against other Federal strongholds.

MEXICAN COAST TO BE BLOCKADED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

El Washington, April 15.—Complete blockade of both coasts of Mexico will be the first action taken by the American navy in carrying out the threat of President Wilson to force to President Huerta to respect the American flag. It was learned at the navy department today that all the vessels on the Pacific coast of the United States will be sent to the west coast of Mexico without delay. There are only a few gunboats in the fleet available for immediate action in the event of a blockade.

It is probable that within the next ten days every vessel of the American navy in active commission, with the exception of the Asiatic fleet, will be lying off Mexico ready to commence an active blockade.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced with pride today that within six minutes of the issuance of his order, sending the entire Atlantic fleet to Tampico, every vessel in the Atlantic fleet had reported that it had received the order and would be under way within thirty hours.

The vessels of the fleet will not congregate at any one point on the Atlantic coast, it was announced, but they will all get under way as soon as possible and gather on the way to Tampico.

It is estimated here that the entire fleet should reach Tampico next Thursday.

ADMIRAL BADGER TO GO THE LIMIT

Warden James Clancy of the New York state prison at Sing Sing, N. Y., who following the execution of four gunmen for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, revealed the fact that Hugo Frank Croft, one of the dead men, had said before going to the chair that Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was not known to have had a hand in the plot to do away with Rosenthal so far as the gunmen were concerned. Hugo Frank, according to Clancy also said Harry Vallon one of the four informers who swore the lives of gunmen and Becker away, was one of the three men who actually fired the shots that killed the gambling house keeper.

GROUND TO DEATH IN GRIST MILL

While working in George Young's grist mill at Marlborough on Tuesday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock, J. Frank Kniffin, a carpenter, lost his footing and fell in among the grinding machinery and his body was ground to a pulp before the machinery could be stopped.

Kniffin was about 65 years old. He had been measuring some timber which was very close to the grinding machinery, in some manner he slipped and was dashed head first in the huge knives of the machinery.

Deceased is survived by his wife and five daughters. Mrs. Myron Stevens, Mrs. John Vincent, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Connaughton and Miss Rose Kniffin, all of Marlborough.

FIRE COMMISSION DISMISSES BOWERS

The board of fire commissioners held a special meeting at the central fire station to consider the charges against Anthony J. Bowers, who was suspended by Fire Chief Chipp, and at the close of the hearing Bowers was dismissed from the department for reporting for duty in an intoxicated condition. According to the charges Bowers was granted time off to visit a moving picture show and reported later in an intoxicated condition. Bowers was called before the board and the charges read to him. He admitted that they were correct. He also said he had been up on charges three times before, one of which was for the same offense. The board will later appoint a man to succeed Bowers.

Promoted to Chief Clerk.

Arthur Warren of Marlborough, who has been in the employ of the Central-Hudson Steamboat Company for the past two years, has been promoted to the position of chief clerk on the steamer Jacob H. Tremper.

Too Sick to be Arraigned.

Patrick Lynch was arrested Tuesday by Policeman Reardon for being drunk. This morning he was too sick to be arraigned and was sent back to jail until Thursday morning.

BROOKMAN ESTATE OVER $5,000,000

A hearing was had before County Treasurer Snyder on Tuesday in the matter of fixing the transfer tax in the estate of John U. Brookman formerly of the town of Esopus. Emanuel Metzger represented Controllor Solmer; Augustus N. Hand of New York city and Judge Clearwater appeared for the executors. The schedule showed that Mr. Brookman left between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. In the estate of his wife, Sarah Carlton Brookman, it was decided that an application would have to be made either to the surrogate or to the supreme court to construe the will. Mrs. Brookman drew her own will without the aid of legal advice with the result that it is very difficult to determine whether she intended to bequeath her estate out and out or to create a trust estate. Her individual estate amounts to about $70,000. The same counsel appeared in this estate.

Great Minstrel Show.

Tickets were sent out yesterday for the mammoth minstrel and vaudeville show to be presented on the evenings of April 27 and 28 in St. Joseph's Hall by the combined Senior and Junior Holy Name Societies of the parish. The public may expect one of the best amateur performances ever given in Kingston. Rehearsals twice a week have been the order for the last two months, and they now will be continued every night until the above dates. The members are showing great enthusiasm and feel sure they will surprise and greatly please their friends. A reception will follow the performance each night. Tickets may be procured from the societies' members. A grand souvenir program will be presented at the performances. The ladies of St. Joseph's parish will assemble in the chapel tonight at 8 o'clock.

Pioneers Defeat Mystics.

The Pioneers defeated the Mystics in a close and exciting game of baseball Friday afternoon by the score of 5 to 3.

Cal Winne the spitalist artist who formerly played with the Pioneers deserted them and played with the Mystics. The game was close up to the eighth inning when the Pioneers made a rally giving them 3 runs in the lead. The batteries for the Pioneers was McAliff and Mervin, for the Mystics Winne and Schoemaker.

ADMIRAL BADGER TO GO THE LIMIT

Told to Bring Huerta to Terms and Compel the Salute to the American Flag—Fleet of 22 Battleships Will gather off Tampico.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Old Point, Va., April 15.—President Wilson's personal orders will be followed by Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, commander of the Atlantic fleet, when he assembles his great naval force off Tampico. Admiral Badger received his final instructions today as his vessels lay in Hampton Roads awaiting the signal to start them southward to the Mexican coast. He was told to go to the limit to bring Huerta to terms.

The order came in the form of confidential communications from the president and Secretary of the Navy Daniels that were so important that they could not be entrusted to the telegraph wires, but were brought by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, aid for operations at the navy department.

Admiral Fiske held a long conference with Admiral Badger aboard the dreadnaught Arkansas. He reached the vessel at 8 o'clock but it was nine o'clock before the conference in the cabin of Admiral Badger was concluded.

The orders transmitted by Admiral Fiske notified Admiral Badger that he must be prepared to deal in drastic fashion at the bullet-scattered old town on the Mexican coast, which recently became the center of the international map because of Huerta's refusal to salute the American colors.

Admiral Badger will command the entire fleet of 22 battleships at Tampico and a comprehensive plan devised by naval and army experts for the landing of marines and blue jackets was placed in his hands by Admiral Fiske.

President Wilson's orders instructed Admiral Badger that when Washington notifies him to "go ahead" he must be prepared to land every available man on his ships and "go the limit," in subduing Huerta.

When Rear Admiral Fiske arrived here he found all bustle and activity, in preparation for the departure of the ships.

PERIOD FURNITURE

Bed Room in LOUIS XV

Furnishing the Home AT MODERATE COST

It is a mistaken idea, entertained by many people, that things to be tasteful must needs be expensive. If this was ever the case, it is not now, because the manufacturers are making, and we are carrying in stock furniture which is made upon exactly as good lines as the most expensive furniture which is bought. A taste for what is known as Period furniture prevails. This is furniture which is made after the designs of the XVII century—Sheraton, Chippendale, Heppelwhite and the Adam Brothers.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, April 14.—Miss Olive Hartwig of the school at Hempstead, L. I., Miss Ruth Fuller of the school at Perth Amboy and Miss Anita Gould of the school at Lynbrook, N. Y., have been spending the Easter vacation at their homes in Ellenville.

Miss May Peaker, a student at Syracuse University, spent Easter with her sister, Mrs. Clark Bunting, on Church street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mackey have returned to their home on Center street after spending several weeks with relatives in Walden.

Miss Carrie Evans of Middletown spent Sunday with her mother and sister on Canal street.

Miss Katharine E. Morse of New York spent Sunday with her father, John W. Morse, on Canal street.

Miss Janet Bonnyman, a student at Syracuse University, spent the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonnyman, on Warren street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Quigley have returned to their home at Nap-a-nook after spending several months in Florida.

Miss Agnes MacVean of Newark, New Jersey, a former teacher in the Ellenville high school, spent several days the past week in town, stopping at the Mitchell House while renewing old friendships.

Mrs. Margaret Dutcher has returned to her home on Center street after spending the winter with her son, Horace C. Dutcher, and family at Buffalo.

Miss Virginia Marshall of Walden spent Easter with her aunt, Mrs. Edgar Mackey.

Robert Graham, a student at Syracuse University, spent his Easter vacation with his parents on Center street.

Miss Ethel TerBush, a student at New Paltz normal, spent her Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. TerBush, at Greenfield.

Miss Norma DeVany, a student at Cornell, spent her Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. DeVany.

Mrs. Webster Wilkinson of Kerhonkson received for Easter a box of beautiful lilies sent by her sister, Mrs. Ella S. Spaulding, from Bermuda.

Mrs. Mary Wepfer of Brooklyn is visiting William Booth, Sr., and family on Canal street.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Winne of Kingston spent Easter with their daughter, Mrs. W. L. Steiner, and husband at the Reformed Church manse.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kurka of Brooklyn welcomed a son at the home of Mrs. Kurka's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Vedder, in Ellenville last week and are receiving hearty congratulations.

The Easter services on Sunday at St. Mary's Church were held at 9:30 in the morning and at 7:30 in the evening. At the morning service high mass was held and the members of the societies received communion in a body. At the evening devotions the new members of the Holy Name Society were formally received into the society.

The Washington, D. C., high school excursionists and friends arrived home Saturday evening all safe and sound after a delightful week's outing in the capital city. The Misses Helen and Mildred Chadwick remained over Sunday with relatives in Yonkers.

Electric lights are to be installed in the lecture room of the M. E. Church; this week supplanting the old gas lights which have been in use some years. Electric lights have been used in the main body of the church for some years and it will be a great improvement to have them in the lecture room.

H. W. Coons and family of Center street spent Sunday with Mrs. Coons' parents, Dr. and Mrs. Cook-ingham, at Red Hook.

The Young People's Society of the Lutheran Church will be entertained by the Misses Clara Lapp and Louise Heins at Miss Lapp's home on Main street Tuesday evening.

The members of the Dorcas Society are invited to meet with Mrs. W. F. Loring at her home on Circle avenue Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Hon. George M. Beebe and Mrs. Beebe of Maple avenue are in New York this week visiting Mrs. Beebe's parents.

Miss Goldie LaPol of North Main street spent the Easter vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Decker, at Monticello.

The town board has contracted with the International Harvesting Company of America for a ten ton traction gasoline engine, capable of being stripped to seven tons if necessary. Price $2,100. A heavy Acme road machine has also been purchased to use with the engine.

Miss Harriet Bradford and Miss Carolyn Clark spent Easter in Kingston.

Uriah E. Terwilliger has let the contract for the foundation of his new residence to Jacob Weber, who with his force of men will begin work at once.

Joseph Rampe of Ulster Heights has moved to Ellenville and will be in charge of the work at Fantine-kill cemetery, to succeed Hubert Kelly, resigned.

The weather for Easter Sunday in Ellenville was pleasant and the sunshine added charm to the day. All the churches were well attended throughout the day and the Easter services were enjoyed. At St. John's Episcopal Church a very elaborate Easter program of music was given. An orchestra assisted the choir of fifty voices. A very fine anthem "Alleluia Christ is Risen," at the morning service was well received.

Frank TerBush of New York spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. TerBush, at Greenfield.

Mrs. Ralph Smith and children of Meltschachs are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sherman, on Park street.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

9904—An Ideal Dress for School or General Wear—Girls' Dress With Over Blouse.

Plaid gingham, in blue and brown tones are here combined with blue chambray. The model will develop equally well in galatea, lawn, percale, serge, voile, poplin, silk, or chaille. The over blouse closes on the shoulders, over an undersleeve, finished with wrist length sleeves and a round collar. The lines are girlish and the model is comfortable and easy to develop. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 40 inch material for waist and skirt; overblouse requires 1 1/2 yards, in the 10 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

PERIOD FURNITURE

Bed Room in LOUIS XV

Furnishing the Home AT MODERATE COST

It is a mistaken idea, entertained by many people, that things to be tasteful must needs be expensive. If this was ever the case, it is not now, because the manufacturers are making, and we are carrying in stock furniture which is made upon exactly as good lines as the most expensive furniture which is bought. A taste for what is known as Period furniture prevails. This is furniture which is made after the designs of English master craftsmen of the XVII century—Sheraton, Chippendale, Heppelwhite and the Adam Brothers.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, April 14.—Miss Olive Hartwig of the school at Hempstead, L. I., Miss Ruth Fuller of the school at Perth Amboy and Miss Anita Gould of the school at Lynbrook, N. Y., have been spending the Easter vacation at their homes in Ellenville.

Miss May Peaker, a student at Syracuse University, spent Easter with her sister, Mrs. Clark Bunting, on Church street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mackey have returned to their home on Center street after spending several weeks with relatives in Walden.

Miss Carrie Evans of Middletown spent Sunday with her mother and sister on Canal street.

Miss Katharine E. Morse of New York spent Sunday with her father, John W. Morse, on Canal street.

Miss Janet Bonnyman, a student at Syracuse University, spent the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonnyman, on Warren street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Quigley have returned to their home at Napanoch after spending several months in Florida.

Miss Agnes MacVean of Newark, New Jersey, a former teacher in the Ellenville high school, spent several days the past week in town, stopping at the Mitchell House while renewing old friendships.

Mrs. Margaret Dutcher has returned to her home on Center street after spending the winter with her son, Horace C. Dutcher, and family at Buffalo.

Miss Virginia Marshall of Walden spent Easter with her aunt, Mrs. Edgar Mackey.

Robert Graham, a student at Syracuse University, spent his Easter vacation with his parents on Canal street.

Miss Ethel TerBush, a student at New Paltz normal, spent her Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. TerBush, at Greenfield.

Miss Norma DeVany, a student at Cornell, spent her Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. DeVany.

Mrs. Webster Wilkinson of Kerhonkson received for Easter a box of beautiful lilies sent by her sister, Mrs. Ella S. Spaulding, from Bermuda.

Mrs. Mary Wepfer of Brooklyn is visiting William Booth, Sr., and family on Canal street.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Winne of Kingston spent Easter with their daughter, Mrs. W. L. Steiner, and husband at the Reformed Church manse.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kurka of Brooklyn welcomed a son at the home of Mrs. Kurka's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Vedder, in Ellenville last week and are receiving hearty congratulations.

The Easter services on Sunday at St. Mary's Church were held at 9:30 in the morning and at 7:30 in the evening. At the morning service high mass was held and the members of the societies received communion in a body. At the evening devotions the new members of the Holy Name Society were formally received into the society.

The Washington, D. C., high school excursionists and friends arrived home Saturday evening all safe and sound after a delightful week's outing in the capital city. The Misses Helen and Mildred Chadwick remained over Sunday with relatives in Yonkers.

Electric lights are to be installed in the lecture room of the M. E. Church this week supplanting the old gas lights which have been in use some years. Electric lights have been used in the main body of the church for some years and it will be a great improvement to have them in the lecture room.

H. W. Coons and family of Center street spent Sunday with Mrs. Coons's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Cookingham, at Red Hook.

The Young People's Society of the Lutheran Church will be entertained by the Misses Clara Lapp and Louise Helms at Miss Lapp's home on Main street Tuesday evening.

The members of the Dorcas Society are invited to meet with Mrs. W. F. Loring at her home on Circle avenue Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Hon. George M. Beebe and Mrs. Beebe of Maple avenue are in New York this week visiting Mrs. Beebe's parents.

Miss Goldie LaPol of North Main street spent the Easter vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Decker, at Montela.

The town board has contracted with the International Harvesting Company of America for a ten ton traction gasoline engine, capable of being stripped to seven tons if necessary. Price $2,100. A heavy Acme road machine has also been purchased to use with the engine.

Miss Harriet Bradford and Miss Carolyn Clark spent Easter in Kingston.

Uriah E. Terwilliger has let the contract for the foundation of his

DUMPLINGS
Light as clouds—made with

The H.O. Company, Buffalo, N.Y. Makers of H.O. Force and Presto.

new residence to Jacob Weber, who with his force of men will begin work at once.

Joseph Rampe of Ulster Heights has moved to Ellenville and will be in charge of the work at Fantinekill cemetery, to succeed Hubert Kelly, resigned.

The weather for Easter Sunday in Ellenville was pleasant and the sunshine added charm to the day. All the churches were well attended throughout the day and the Easter services were enjoyed. At St. John's Episcopal Church a very elaborate Easter program of music was given. An orchestra assisted the choir of fifty voices. A very fine anthem "Alleluia Christ is Risen," at the morning service was well received.

Frank TerBush of New York spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. TerBush, at Greenfield.

Mr. Ralph Smith and children of Monticouth are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sherman, on Park street.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

9904—An Ideal Dress for School or General Wear—Girls' Dress With Over Blouse.

Plaid gingham, in blue and brown tones are here combined with blue chambray. The model will develop equally well in galatee, lawn, percale, serge, voile, poplin, silk, or challie. The over blouse closes on the shoulders, over an undersleeve, and a round collar. The lines are girlish and the model is comfortable and easy to develop. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 40 inch material for waist and skirt; overblouse requires 1 1/2 yards, in the 10 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

The will of Adolph O. J. Voerg of Saugerties was proved and admitted to probate in surrogate's court before Surrogate Gill and letters testamentary granted to Emma Voerg and Anna Voerg. The value of the estate is $3,000 real and $5,000 personal property. Byron L. Davis attorney with A. C. Connolly of counsel. John Lang, Sr., and William Ziegler were appointed transfer tax appraisers. The will was executed March 9, 1913, and witnessed by Charles Davis and Byron L. Davis. Sophia Krantz is given the income of $500 during her life and at her death the principal goes to the sons, William and Frederick Voerg. The remainder of the estate goes to his wife, Emma Voerg, during her life and at her death goes to Anna Voerg, his daughter, who is also given his life insurance policy for $5,000 issued by the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and all moneys due from same; also one-third of all property he received from his sister, Amelia Danbann, of Wilmfen, Germany, and the remainder of the estate goes to the sons, William and Frederick, one fourth each, and at their death it goes to their children. He directs his children, Anna, William and Frederick, to pay $250 to be given to the niece, Wilhelmina Brucker, each of the children to pay one third thereof immediately after the death of his wife. He appoints Emma and Anna Voerg executrices.

A decree for judicial settlement was granted in the estate of Christina Steiner. Brinnier & Canfield, attorneys.

In the estate of Garret Gosso a petition was filed by H. Lee Breithaupt of Shandaken, a creditor, for funeral expenses, asking that he be appointed administrator. Petition granted and letters of administration issued. Henry R. DeWitt was appointed special guardian. Lackey & Dibble attorneys for petitioner. The value of the estate is $3,500 real and $1,000 personal property.

A petition to prove the will of Sarah M. Gray was filed and citation issued returnable May 2. DeWitt & Roscoe attorneys.

The hearing was had in the matter of the accounting of the Countess Elizabeth Pratt de Gasquet James, as executrix of the estate of her husband, the late Count Amedee de Gasquet James. Application was made on behalf of the countess for the appointment of a commission to take testimony in France, but Surrogate Gill decided there was sufficient proof in the case without delaying the proceeding for taking testimony on the particular questions on which it was desired to give further testimony, and he denied the application. The testimony desired to be taken before a commission related to French law and jurisprudence, and the testimony of Mrs. George W. Pratt, widow of Colonel George W. Pratt, as to the intention of the count and countess to make their permanent abode in France after their marriage in America in 1884. Mrs. Pratt is now over 80 years old and resides at Dinard, France.

The testimony was closed and briefs were submitted. George M. Weaver of Utica appeared for the countess, with Judge Sharpe of counsel; the other interested parties were represented by Conder Brothers, J. Noble Hayes and Geller, Ralston & Horan of New York city, and Howard Chipp of this city.

THE RULING PASSION.

Saving His Own Life Was a Strictly Business Proposition.

In the Wide World Magazine Malcolm Savage Treacher tells the story of a German mountain climber who did not forget to be economical even in the midst of deadly peril.

A party was crossing a glacier on the slope of Mont Blanc when one of the travelers called to the others to stop and listen. Strange cries came from the ice beneath their feet.

"Some one has fallen into a crevasse!" exclaimed one of the party. "His groans seem to indicate that he is already beyond help."

"We must do what we can in any case," responded one of the guides, and he began a long and perilous descent into what proved to be the bosom of a concealed crevasse. At the bottom they found the poor gentleman who had fallen. He was, however, quite unhurt, sitting comfortably upon a bench of ice.

"We've come to save you," said one of the guides.

"You save me?" answered the gentleman quite tranquilly. "How do you know I want to be saved?"

"Because you called to us for aid," said one of the bewildered guides.

"Perhaps I did," replied the German, "perhaps I didn't. You came anyhow. Now, what'll you take to rescue me?"

And before he would allow the guides to hitch him to the rope and drag him to the surface he compelled them to set down in writing the exact amount they would require for the performance of their life saving duty. He was a business man, whatever any one could say against him, and moreover, he knew the guides of Switzerland.

SENSES OF PLANTS.

A Theory That Flowers See and Hear and May Even Talk.

Jean Vland-Bruant, who is one of the most famous French horticulturists, has just published a little book on flowers, in which he advances the theory (I believe it is not entirely novel) that flowers both see and hear. As a young man, he says, he began to study flowers, for which he has always had a passion, and he sought to understand the habits of the blooms which he cultivated. When he saw the growing plant reach out toward the necessary support he asked himself whether the action was the result of volition and whether the plant had eyes.

M. Vland-Bruant is now apparently convinced that flowers both hear and see. There are some that are sensitive to anaesthetic substances, ether in particular, which suggests the existence of a nervous system, like that of a nervous woman. And he would even credit them with something analogous to the power of speech.

"One knows," he writes, "that the perfume of flowers is a manifestation of vegetable life, a living radiation. Perfume is as much a vibration as an olfactory sensation. The perfume is the voice of the flower. A bouquet is a wordless romance. Each perfume or rather, each odorous sensation corresponds with a certain rate of vibration. There is an analogy between the perceptions of sound, light and scent. The strong scent corresponds with the deep notes, while the delicate odors correspond with the shrill notes."—Paris Cor. Cincinnati Enquirer.

Not a Very Big Bluff.

There is a story of a man from out of town who came to New York and fell not among thieves, but liars. He listened to the tales of those who hailed him about the city, and they came at last to Spuyten Duyvil. The Palisades were pointed out to him, and he heard that the Hudson river scenery was the most beautiful in the world. He turned away and was not impressed.

"But," they remonstrated, "those bluffs of the Palisades are 800 feet high!"

"Well," he returned sadly, "I've learned to know that that isn't a very big bluff in New York."

The story does not go on from there, but it ought to add, as if it were a moral, that that man knew New York very well for a stranger.—New York Post.

Upon the Road.

Perhaps one of the best known puns is that put into the mouth of John Gilpin by Cowper. It will be remembered that, according to the poem, John Gilpin borrowed a horse from his friend to ride to Edmonton to celebrate his wedding day, but the horse had other plans and took the jovial Gilpin to the house of his friend, who, on seeing his ruffled condition, asked him why he had come. Gilpin replied:

I came because your horse would come, And if I well forbode My hat and wig will soon be here— They are upon the road.

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

The will of Adolph O. J. Voerg of Saugerties was proved and admitted to probate in surrogate's court before Surrogate Gill and letters testamentary granted to Emma Voerg and Anna Voerg. The value of the estate is $3,000 real and $5,000 personal property. Byron L. Davis attorney with A. C. Connolly of counsel. John Lang, Sr., and William Ziegler were appointed transfer tax appraisers. The will was executed March 9, 1913, and witnessed by Charles Davis and Byron L. Davis. Sophia Krantz is given the income of $500 during her life and at her death the principal goes to the sons, William and Frederick Voerg. The remainder of the estate goes to his wife, Emma Voerg, during her life and at her death goes to Anna Voerg, his daughter, who is also given his life insurance policy for $5,000 issued by the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and all moneys due from same; also one-third of all property he received from his sister, Amelia Danbann, of Wilmfen, Germany, and the remainder of the estate goes to the sons, William and Frederick, one fourth each, and at their death it goes to their children. He directs his children, Anna, William and Frederick, to pay $250 to be given to the niece, Wilhelmina Brucker, each of the children to pay one third thereof immediately after the death of his wife. He appoints Emma and Anna Voerg executrices.

A decree for judicial settlement was granted in the estate of Christina Steiner. Brinnier & Canfield, attorneys.

In the estate of Garret Gosso a petition was filed by H. Lee Breithaupt of Shandaken, a creditor, for funeral expenses, asking that he be appointed administrator. Petition granted and letters of administration issued. Henry R. DeWitt was appointed special guardian. Lackey & Dibble attorneys for petitioner. The value of the estate is $3,500 real and $1,000 personal property.

A petition to prove the will of Sarah M. Gray was filed and citation issued returnable May 2. DeWitt & Roosa attorneys.

The hearing was had in the matter of the accounting of the Countess Elizabeth Pratt de Gasquet James, as executrix of the estate of her husband, the late Count Amedee de Gasquet James. Application was made on behalf of the countess for the appointment of a commission to take testimony in France, but Surrogate Gill decided there was sufficient proof in the case without delaying the proceeding for taking testimony on the particular questions on which it was desired to give further testimony, and he denied the application. The testimony desired to be taken before a commission related to French law and jurisprudence, and the testimony of Mrs. Anna T. Pratt, as to the intention of the countess and countess to make their permanent abode in France after their marriage in America in 1884. Mrs. Pratt is now over 80 years old and resides at Dinard, France.

The testimony was closed and briefs were submitted. George M. Weaver of Utica appeared for the countess, with Judge Sharpe of counsel; the other interested parties were represented by Couderet Brothers, J. Noble Hayes and Geller, Ralston & Horan of New York city, and Howard Chipp of this city.

THE RULING PASSION.

Saving His Own Life Was a Strictly Business Proposition.

In the Wide World Magazine Malcolme Savage Trencher tells the story of a German mountain climber who did not forget to be economical even in the midst of deadly peril.

A party was crossing a glacier on the slope of Mont Blanc when one of the travelers called to the others to stop and listen. Strange cries came from the ice beneath their feet.

"Some one has fallen into a crevasse!" exclaimed one of the party. "His groans seem to indicate that he is already beyond help."

"We must do what we can in any case," responded one of the guides, and he began a long and perilous descent into what proved to be the bosom of a concealed crevasse. At the bottom they found the poor gentleman who had fallen. He was, however, quite unhurt, sitting comfortably upon a bench of ice.

"We've come to save you," said one of the guides.

"You save me?" answered the gentleman quite tranquilly. "How do you know I want to be saved?"

"Because you called to us for aid," said one of the bewildered guides.

"Perhaps I did," replied the German. "Perhaps I didn't. You came anyhow. Now, what'll you take to rescue me?"

And before he would allow the guides to hitch him to the rope and drag him to the surface he compelled them to set down in writing the exact amount they would require for the performance of their life saving duty. He was a business man, whatever any one could say against him, and, moreover, he knew the guides of Switzerland.

SENSES OF PLANTS.

A Theory That Flowers See and Hear and May Even Talk.

Jean Vland-Bruant, who is one of the most famous French horticulturists, has just published a little book on flowers, in which he advances the theory (I believe it is not entirely novel) that flowers both see and hear. As a young man, he says, he began to study flowers, for which he has always had a passion, and he sought to understand the habits of the blooms which he cultivated. When he saw the growing plant reach out toward the necessary support he asked himself whether the action was the result of volition and whether the plant had eyes.

M. Vland-Bruant is now apparently convinced that flowers both hear and see. There are some that are sensitive to anaesthetic substances, ether in particular, which suggests the existence of a nervous system, like that of a nervous woman. And he would even credit them with something analogous to the power of speech.

"One knows," he writes, "that the perfume of flowers is a manifestation of vegetable life, a living radiation. Perfume is as much a vibration as an olfactory sensation. A bouquet is the voice of the flower. A bouquet is a wordless romance. Each perfume or rather, each odoriferous sensation corresponds with a certain rate of vibration. There is an analogy between the perceptions of sound, light and scent. The strong scent corresponds with the deep notes, while the delicate odors correspond with the shrill notes."—Paris Cor. Cincinnati Enquirer.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 15, 1914.

The Harry Thaw scandal has broken out afresh in New Hampshire, a Federal Judge having granted a writ of habeas corpus in Thaw's favor, at the same time absurdly keeping him in custody. It must take a lot of courage in a Judge to hand down such a preposterous decision, which is calculated to make suspicious persons think he has been bribed, when as a matter of fact he may be only muddle-headed. On the same day Governor Glynn thought fit to veto the Blauvelt bills providing for a new method of handling cases like Thaw's. These measures created a new plea, "Guilty but insane," and were approved by the State Bar Association. In his memorandum regarding his veto the Governor acknowledges the sincere purpose behind this proposed legislation, but expresses the fear that under its operation the death penalty for first degree murderers would be eliminated. He suggests that there be "further investigation and discussion before the existing law is amended." It ought not to be difficult to meet the objection of the Governor, which is also raised by District Attorney Whitman, and it is likely that next year we shall have put upon the statute books an act which will put an end to such disgraceful juggling as has characterized the Thaw proceedings.

No matter how firmly one may believe in peace conferences and arbitration, it is dangerous to advance such ideas now. Any one who disapproves of invading Mexico in case she fails to fire a salute of apology for insulting our flag is no better than a "Copperhead." We read in a despatch to the conservative New York Times that "news of the mobilization of the fleet at Tampico was received with relief by the United States Senate." All the despatches agree with this. Senator Borah, who, like other Presidential aspirants, endeavors to take the popular course, goes so far as to say: "If the flag of the United States is ever run up in Mexico it will never come down. This is the beginning of the march of the United States to the Panama Canal." That is an interesting prospect. Of the Mexican population something like 7,000,000 are Indians, which is undoubtedly a larger number than existed in the territory now known as the United States when the whites first came here. By looking back over the long and bloody history of our Indian wars we can see what is ahead of us if we try to bring Mexico up to our standard of civilization. We must literally kill millions of savages, incidentally losing a host of our young men who might better be engaged in productive labor. However this crisis results, the impartial and peace-loving observer must reach the conclusion that every move Wilson has made thus far has been a blunder.

The hope that the Administration would abandon its plan to enact additional anti-trust legislation seems to have been unfounded. In place of the four bills introduced some months ago one bill containing the salient features of all of them has been presented. It does a number of things which would be better left undone. It prohibits interlocking directorates, which might be a good thing theoretically, but which from a practical standpoint is only a "dream," as it was characterized by Charles E. Hughes long ago. It contains a number of new definitions of business crimes, which are unnecessary, since the existing law covers all wrongful practices, and the new definitions would have to be interpreted by the courts, thus delaying the establishment of that settled condition of business practices which is so strongly desired by everybody who has the prosperity of the country at heart. Some limitations are put on the power of courts to issue injunctions against labor organizations which think they have a right to destroy the property of employers who decline to raise their wages, and there are to be jury trials in case of indirect contempt of court. What benefit this would be to any law-abiding citizen we fail to see. There is no excuse whatever for this "monkeying" with the anti-trust law, which has proved itself sufficient for every reasonable purpose. President Wilson states that the Democratic party is pledged by its platform to do these things, but that is nonsense in view of Secretary Bryan's account of how the platform was put through without any considerable number of the delegates knowing what it contained.

A TEST.

(By Our Woman Editor.)
It is said that the late Dowager Empress of Japan was a "womanly woman," and, according to some of the stories related about her one judges she was.

But the standard of the womanly woman varies according to the customs and conventions of the land where she lives. And one must wonder if the Empress so thoroughly endorsed all the customs of Japan that she found it easy to remain sweet and womanly through a very hard test put upon her.

The Empress was childless, a fact which brought great sadness into her life; but there must be an heir to the throne, and so she adopted as her own the young child of one of the Mikado's secondary wives and devoted her time to fitting him for the position he was to occupy.

To be womanly sweet and true to the child—that was easy to the right kind of woman-heart, in spite of the strange combination. But to be womanly, sweet and true to the custom—nothing but stern old training passing on and on through the centuries could encompass that. Because it matters not the land of her birth, matters not the color of her skin nor the tongue that she speaks, the womanly heart beats away with the same old throbs and thrills and emotions all over the world.

Custom, as it runs in the Orient, may permit an emperor to have as many secondary wives as he likes and may permit his subjects who can afford it to follow in his steps as closely as may be. Custom may bid women bow their heads in submission, and it may make them outwardly obedient, for perhaps all of us know how relentless custom may grow.

But we of the Occident cannot believe that custom can make women thoroughly subscribe to a decree like that, for hearts were created before ever custom was born. And the heart of a man and the heart of a woman are pretty much alike, no matter what the custom may say.

The womanly woman?

Who knows what the womanly woman of Japan may be when the example of the present Emperor and the most advanced of his subjects shall be followed by the many, and when all Japanese woman shall be free to develop as nature intended? Because one need not be a deep student of human nature to know very well that no woman is expressing herself, her hopes, her prayers and the desires of her heart when she takes her place as one among many wives. She may still her protests, but along with the stillings goes some of her Heaven-born womanliness, just as the real manliness of man would slip under cover if he were custom-bound until he scarcely knew himself.

The womanly woman should be the same all over the world, no less than the manly man, for when woman came, fresh from the hands of her Creator, she bore the nature-stamp of womanliness, irrespective of her country's standard. And no standard varying as countries vary, can get at the self that is back of the standard, the womanliness that would be rated as womanly in every corner of the globe if one country after another did not attempt so many unnatural markings.

And always when one gets a dim echo of the hardship involved in a custom like this—a custom which gives fair promise of dying away in Japan—or in any other custom that presses with discriminating heaviness, one listens rather attentively, because it gives striking emphasis to the fact that women would be happier and perhaps the whole world would be better with customs and conventions for men and women the same.

And always comes the instinctive question: Why were they made any different? Here in our own freer land they have kept growing nearer and nearer, and one believes that as thoughtful folk look back upon the customs and conventions that have changed, they are glad to admit that the newer ways are better. And as these same thoughtful folk reflect upon the ways in which they are still apart one also believes conviction will come that there is room for improvement.

UNION CARPENTERS RETURN TO WORK

All of the union carpenters who went out on strike on Monday returned to work this morning, accepting the compromise offered by the local contractors granting an increase in wages of two and one-half cents an hour to go into effect the first of July. Their wages will then be 42½ cents an hour.

The action taken by the carpenters was the outcome of the meeting of the union held on Tuesday evening. Just what occurred at the meeting could not be learned.

The strike started when the contractors refused to grant the union's demand for an increase in wages of five cents an hour for an eight hour day and a half holiday on Saturday. The contractors offered to give the union men two and one-half cents an hour increase to go into effect July 1. The union was willing to accept the increase provided it dated from April 1, to which the contractors would not agree and the men struck.

Stag Social at Y. M. C. A.

This evening the most important event of the season will be held at the Y. M. C. A. when the senior stag social will be held under the auspices of the social committee of the association. Over seven hundred and fifty invitations have been sent out and the committee is arranging to entertain the large number of men who are expected to be present. A fine program has also been arranged for the occasion. A stereopticon talk on Mexico will be given by the Rev. F. B. Seely, illustrated by one hundred art views. Considering the delicate condition existing between that country and our own at the present time the lecture is especially timely. City Treasurer Floyd Powell and Harry Every will hold an animated discussion on the oyster and an eight piece orchestra will render a fine musical program. Vocal solos will also be rendered. After the entertainment a social hour will be enjoyed and fine refreshments served. Every senior should make it a point to attend.

Vincent Astor III.

Vincent Astor, the young Rhinebeck millionaire, is seriously ill with congestion of the right lung at the home of his fiancée, Miss Helen Huntington, at Staatsburgh. He recently recovered from an attack of bronchitis. For a few days it was thought he had pneumonia but the specialists in attendance say the crisis has been safely passed. On account of his illness it may be necessary to postpone the wedding, which was set for April 30.

Barnes Says City Paid Too Much

Arthur S. Barnes, a former deputy corporation counsel of New York city, has reported to the city chamberlain that the price the city paid for the Ulster and Delaware Railroad was between $800,000 and $1,500,000 too much. There is no allegation of fraud or impropriety.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 15, 1914.

The Harry Thaw scandal has broken out afresh in New Hampshire, a Federal Judge having granted a writ of habeas corpus in Thaw's favor, at the same time absurdly keeping him in custody. It must take a lot of courage in a Judge to hand down such a preposterous decision, which is calculated to make suspicious persons think he has been bribed, when as a matter of fact he may be only muddle-headed. On the same day Governor Glynn thought fit to veto the Blauvelt bills providing for a new method of handling cases like Thaw's. These measures created a new plea, "Guilty but insane," and were approved by the State Bar Association. In his memorandum regarding his veto the Governor acknowledges the sincere purpose behind this proposed legislation, but expresses the fear that under its operation the death penalty for first degree murderers would be eliminated. He suggests that there be "further investigation and discussion before the existing law is amended." It ought not to be difficult to meet the objection of the Governor, which is also raised by District Attorney Whitman, and it is likely that next year we shall have put upon the statute books an act which will put an end to such disgraceful juggling as has characterized the Thaw proceedings.

No matter how firmly one may believe in peace conferences and arbitration, it is dangerous to advance such ideas now. Any one who disapproves of invading Mexico in case she fails to fire a salute of apology for insulting our flag is no better than a "Copperhead." We read in a despatch to the conservative New York Times that "news of the mobilization of the fleet at Tampico was received by the Senate." All the despatches agree with this. Senator Borah, who, like other Presidential aspirants, endeavors to take the popular course, goes so far as to say: "If the flag of the United States is ever run up in Mexico it will never come down. This is the beginning of the march of the United States to the Panama Canal." That is an interesting prospect. Of the Mexican population something like 7,000,000 are Indians, which is undoubtedly a larger number than existed in the territory now known as the United States when the whites first came here. By looking back over the long and bloody history of our Indian wars we can see what is ahead of us if we try to bring Mexico up to our standard of civilization. We must literally kill millions of savages, incidentally losing a host of our young men who might better be engaged in productive labor. However this crisis results, the impartial and peace-loving observer must reach the conclusion that every move Wilson has made thus far has been a blunder.

The hope that the Administration would abandon its plan to enact additional anti-trust legislation seems to have been unfounded. In place of the four bills introduced some months ago one bill containing the salient features of all of them has been presented. It does a number of things which would be better left undone. It prohibits interlocking directorates, which might be a good thing theoretically, but which from a practical standpoint is only a "dream," as it was characterized by Charles E. Hughes long ago. It contains a number of new definitions of business crimes, which are unnecessary, since the existing law covers all wrongful practices, and the new definitions would have to be interpreted by the courts, thus delaying the establishment of that settled condition of business practices which is so strongly desired by everybody who has the prosperity of the country at heart. Some limitations are put on the power of courts to issue injunctions against labor organizations which think they have a right to destroy the property of employers who decline to raise their wages, and there are to be jury trials in case of indirect contempt of court. What benefit this would be to any law-abiding citizen we fail to see. There is no excuse whatever for this "monkeying" with the anti-trust law, which has proved itself sufficient for every reasonable purpose. President Wilson states that the Democratic party is pledged by its platform to do these things, but that is nonsense in view of Secretary Bryan's account of how the platform was put through without any considerable number of the delegates knowing what it contained.

A TEST.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

It is said that the late Dowager Empress of Japan was a "womanly woman," and, according to some of the stories related about her one judges she was.

But the standard of the womanly woman varies according to the customs and conventions of the land where she lives. And one must wonder if the Empress so thoroughly endorsed all the customs of Japan that she found it easy to remain sweet and womanly through a very hard test put upon her.

The Empress was childless, a fact which brought great sadness into her life; but there must be an heir to the throne, and so she adopted as her own the young child of one of the Mikado's secondary wives and devoted her time to fitting him for the position he was to occupy.

To be womanly sweet and true to the child—that was easy to the right kind of woman-heart, in spite of the strange combination. But to be womanly, sweet and true to the custom—nothing but stern old training passing on and on through the centuries could encompass that. Because it matters not the land of her birth, matters not the color of her skin nor the tongue that she speaks, the womanly heart beats away with the same old throbs and thrills and emotions all over the world.

Custom, as it runs in the Orient, may permit an emperor to have as many secondary wives as he likes and may permit his subjects who can afford it to follow in his steps as closely as may be. Custom may bid women bow their heads in submission, and it may make them outwardly obedient, for perhaps all of us know how relentless custom may grow.

But we of the Occident cannot believe that custom can make women thoroughly subscribe to a decree like that, for hearts were created before custom was born. And the heart of a man and the heart of a woman are pretty much alike, no matter what the custom may say.

The womanly woman?

Who knows what the womanly woman of Japan may be when the example of the present Emperor and the most advanced of his subjects shall be followed by the many, and when all Japanese woman shall be free to develop as nature intended? Because one need not be a deep student of human nature to know very well that no woman is expressing herself, her hopes, her prayers and the desires of her heart when she takes her place as one among many wives. She may still her protests, but along with the stillings goes some of her Heaven-born womanliness, just as the real manliness of man would slip under cover if he were custom-bound until he scarcely knew himself.

The womanly woman should be the same all over the world, no less than the manly man, for when woman came, fresh from the hands of her Creator, she bore the natural stamp of womanliness, irrespective of her country's standard. And no standard varying as countries vary, can get at the self that is back of the standard, the womanliness that would be rated as womanly in every corner of the globe if one country after another did not attempt so many unnatural markings.

And always when one gets a dim echo of the hardship involved in a custom like this—a custom which gives fair promise of dying away in Japan—or in any other custom that presses with discriminating heaviness, one listens rather attentively, because it gives striking emphasis to the fact that women would be happier and perhaps the whole world would be better with customs and conventions for men and women the same.

And always comes the instinctive question: Why were they made any different? Here in our own freeland they have kept growing nearer and nearer, and one believes that as thoughtful folk look back upon the customs and conventions that have changed, they are glad to admit that the newer ways are better. And as these same thoughtful folk reflect upon the ways in which they are still apart one also believes conviction will come that there is room for improvement.

UNION CARPENTERS RETURN TO WORK

All of the union carpenters who went out on strike on Monday returned to work this morning, accepting the compromise offered by the local contractors granting an increase in wages of two and one-half cents an hour to go into effect the first of July. Their wages will then be 42½ cents an hour.

The action taken by the carpenters was the outcome of the meeting of the union held on Tuesday evening. Just what occurred at the meeting could not be learned.

The strike started when the contractors refused to grant the union's demand for an increase in wages of five cents an hour for an eight hour day and a half holiday on Saturday. The contractors offered to give the union men two and one-half cents an hour increase to go into effect July 1. The union was willing to accept the increase provided it dated from April 1, to which the contractors would not agree and the men struck.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, April 15.—It's too hard for Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, that he didn't learn a wee bit sooner that, in some instances, "silence is golden."

Because he didn't, and because he wasn't even discreetly silent, for the first few days after his return from Europe he has angered "Jill Ahthuh" Johnson, a colored punching person, which means that Frank is due for a nice little beating in Paris on June 27.

Frank, it may be recalled, is matched to meet Johnson, the heavy-weight champion of the world, at the place and on the date just mentioned above. Immediately after the match was made Moran sailed from Paris to these shores, probably for the secret purpose of giving his relatives and the scenes of his childhood one last fond look. Publicly he said it was because he wanted to condition himself here for his battle.

Well, to proceed with the story, Frank, upon landing, began to issue boastful statements regarding what he would do to Johnson, and belittling statements concerning the prowess of the ebony person.

Frank shouted as loud as his lusty lungs would permit, that he would knock out Johnson in twelve rounds "and perhaps less," that "Johnson has gone back" and that "Johnson is a wreck from dissipation."

In due course of time these statements, printed in sassy looking type in numerous American papers, reached the giddy city of Paris. Also they reached Mr. Johnson who took out his specs, applied them to his eyes, and then focused the eyes upon the sporting pages, giving the statements the up and down, the once over and several other things that one gives to something that vitally interests one.

In equipping Mr. Johnson with specs we are assuming what might be poetic licence. It is not generally known in this country that the colored wallflower wears specs. Nor have we any authentic information to that effect. But we have Mr. Moran's word for it that Mr. Johnson is a wreck, and it's our idea that one cannot be a physical wreck without also being almost blind. Therefore, we have given Mr. Johnson a pair of specs. If he doesn't need them he can send them back.

But it matters not whether Johnson absorbed Moran's remarks through the medium of specs or not. The fact remains that he absorbed them. And it is said that the oftener Johnson looked at those remarks of the second rate American "white horse" the greater became his anger and indignation.

"Ah was able to jest let that fellow down kinda easy like," snorted Johnson. "but ah've changed mah mind. I'm gwine to train good now and I'm gwine to give Moran the worst bekin' I evah gave any man in mah life."

Whereupon, Johnson, who had taken the Moran match something in the nature of a joke, and who didn't intend to do any vigorous training, started in to condition himself in as earnest a manner as he trained for his match when he took the title from Jeffries.

Johnson just now is said to weigh over 250. And he has grown bulky amidst his and his once wonderful muscles are softened and covered with layers of fat. And, if you wish to take Moran's word for it, his wind is gone, his speed is a minus quality and he's quite generally on the fritz.

"Ah reckon ah am some pounds ovah weight," remarked Johnson at the outset of his training, "and ah knows that right jest now ah wouldn't be able to fight like a champion. But ah've got ovah two months to get into shape and ah'm gwine to get into shape—get into such condition that Mistah Moran will be a mightily fooled pusion."

And when ah gets Mistah Moran in the ring with me you all can depend upon it that ah won't forget what that Moran nution said about me. I'll make him eat his words."

And ah'll show him a few tricks about fightin' that he hadn't learned before. When ah gets through with Mistah Moran ah think's ah'll have convinced the people in America that Moran was so'ta mistaken when he said ah'm all in."

Johnson some few weeks ago started training by doing light road work. Each day he increased the distance travelled, and it is said that the exercise is taking off a lot of bulk. Johnson intends devoting the last month before the fight in his gymnasium work.

VOTE OFFICIALLY COUNTED.

Board of County Canvassers Meets and Does its Work.

The board of supervisors which organized as a board of canvassers on Tuesday at noon at the county clerk's office and adjourned to the court house finished its labors shortly after 4 o'clock that afternoon and adjourned. The results of the official canvass of the votes cast in Ulster county at the special election were practically the same as printed in The Freeman the day after election and showed that 6,079 ballots had been cast. Of this number 1,063 were in the affirmative and 4,935 in the negative. There was 54 void ballots and 27 blanks.

The following committees were appointed by Chairman Schermerhorn. On examining returns—Philip Schantz, William I. Harshorn, Jacob V. Merrihew.

On reading returns—William McElhone, T. I. Rifenbary, Daniel E. Scholomaker.

On tabulating returns—E. T. Shultis, George Schick, Elting L. Simpkins.

Hot Liners.

I cannot say the things I feel, I watch the score board and I reel.
The home team lost a game today, and all the world seems sad and gray.
The Federals are bears at producing that one to nothing brand of ball.
Some of the baseball magnates are now litigating over .300 per cent.

Immediately after Captain Magee of the Phillies lined out his first home run in the game with the Giants, Rube Marquard began to ascend and after the second Mr. Marquard was just visible to the naked eye.

Nix, Gerald, Pitcher Boardman of the Athletics, is in no wise related to Pitcher Plank of the same team.

President Wilson will have to declare war on Mexico if he wants to get into bigger type in the Washington newspapers than Walt Johnson.

Ty Cobb, like wine, seems to improve with age. His three base swat which won the game for the Tigers, shows that he is still to be considered among those present.

It cost George Mitchell, the British amateur boxer, $5,000 to be knocked out by Georges Carpentier, the French champion, last night, as he bore all expenses. If that is the price of a knockout the average American white hope would have to be as rich as a big business bandit.

The court and links each calls its own.
The days are getting warm and bright.
Dust off the racquet and the club.
These afternoons are out of sight.

There is something radically wrong. The National League season is two days old and John McGraw has not laid claim to the 1914 pennant.

Rube Marquard is the holder of another record. He is the first pitcher of the season to be batted out of the box.

Gunboat Smith threatens to make Georges Carpentier think he is the whole American navy, which indicates that Mr. Smith is some confident.

Tee Up! Smoke Up!

AS satisfying as the sounding smack of the perfect drive, is the open-air relish of the perfect smoke—Tuxedo. Both go together, too. When you grab your bag and start for the links, grab up your tin of Tuxedo and take it along.

"Follow through" the snappy afternoon with Tuxedo. Put Tuxedo in your pipe and you will "put" the best. And at "the nineteenth hole" rest up and relax with a good, solid smoke of Tuxedo. That's the advice of good golfers everywhere.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

It's worth your while to try Tuxedo. Especially if a sensitive tongue prevents pipe smoking.

Tuxedo positively cannot bite—not even if you smoke pipeful after pipeful, as many as you can crowd into a day or a week.

Tuxedo is made of only the finest, choicest, selected leaves of perfectly aged Burley tobacco. It is made by the original "Tuxedo Process" which removes every trace of bite and sting and develops all the wonderful mildness, fragrance and flavor of the Burley Leaf in a way that no other brand of tobacco has ever successfully imitated.

OLD GALEVILLE FORD.

Editor LeFevre Settles Question Historical Society Disputed Over.

The members of the Minnissink Valley Historical Society and of the Historical Society of Newburgh Bay and the Highlands have been discussing and disagreeing about the location of the old ford on the Walkkill above Galeville, in the town of Shawangunk, and finally referred the matter to Judge Clearwater, whose ancestors were partners of Governor Rip Van Dam and Colonel William Peartree in the ownership of a large portion of the land in that vicinity, the patent being granted by Queen Anne in 1709. The judge in turn referred the question of the location of the ford to Ralph LeFevre, the editor of the New Paltz Independent, the great authority on historical matters in southern Ulster, and Editor LeFevre in the last number of the Independent says:

"In 1732 the provincial legislature passed an act appointing commissioners to lay out a highway between Shawangunk and the Hudson river at what is now Newburgh, and described the road as 'extending from Shawangunk over the Paltz creek to a certain noted place for ford, distinguished by the pine tree standing on the bank of the Paltz creek on the land of Rip Van Dam and Company, and from thence along that tract on the east side of the Paltz hill etc. etc.' See colonial laws of New York, volume 2, page 745. Can you tell precisely where that ford was located?"

The ford is between Galeville and Walkkill, about three-fourths of a mile above Galeville, on the farm owned by Patrick Bannion's daughters, adjoining the place of Simon DuBois. Rip Van Dam was a partner in three different patents in Shawangunk, all granted in 1709, namely, the Peartree patent of 4,000 acres west of Galeville, in which Judge Clearwater's ancestors, Junise Jacobse and Jacob Clearwater, were also partners; then the Beekman patent of 3,000 acres on the west side of the Walkkill (here called the Paltz creek) at what is now called Walkkill, and lastly the Rip Van Dam patent of 3,500 acres east of Walkkill and forming the southeast bounds of the precinct of Shawangunk, as established in 1703. From the description in Judge Clearwater's letter there can be little doubt that the highway laid out, as it runs, today, on the east side of the Walkkill, from the Galeville ford to Walkkill and thence to Newburgh.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, April 15.—It's too hard for Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, that he didn't learn a wee bit sooner that, in some instances, "silence is golden."

Because he didn't, and because he wasn't even discreetly silent, for the first few days after his return from Europe he has angered "Hill Abtuh" Johnson, a colored punching person, which means that Frank is due for a nice little beating in Paris on June 27.

Frank, it may be recalled, is matched to meet Johnson, the heavy champion of the world, at the place and on the date just mentioned above. Immediately after the match was made Moran sailed from Paris to these shores, probably for the secret purpose of giving his relatives and the scenes of his childhood one last fond look. Publicly he said it was because he wanted to condition himself here for his battle.

Well, to proceed with the story, Frank, upon landing, began to issue boastful statements regarding what he would do to Johnson, and belittling statements concerning the prowess of the ebony person.

Frank shouted as loud as his lusty lungs would permit, that he would knock out Johnson in twelve rounds "and perhaps less," that "Johnson has gone back" and that "Johnson is a wreck from dissipation."

In due course of time these statements, printed in sassy looking type in numerous American papers, reached the giddy city of Paris. Also they reached Mr. Johnson who took out his specs, applied them to his eyes, and then focused the eyes upon the sporting pages, giving the statements the up and down, the once over and several other things that one gives to something that vitally interests one.

In equipping Mr. Johnson with specs we are assuming what might be poetic licence. It is not generally known in this country that the colored welter wears specs. Nor have we any authentic information to that effect. But we have Mr. Moran's word for it that Mr. Johnson is a wreck, and it's our idea that one cannot be a physical wreck without also being almost blind. Therefore, we have given Mr. Johnson a pair of specs. If he doesn't need them he can send them back.

But it matters not whether Johnson absorbed Moran's remarks through the medium of specs or not. The fact remains that he absorbed them. And it said that the oftener Johnson looked at those remarks of the second rate American "white hope" the greater became his anger and indignation.

"Ah, was else to jes' let that fellow down kinda easy like," snorted Johnson, "but ah've changed mah mind. I'm gwine to train good now and I'm gwine to give Moran the worst lickin' I evah gave any man in mah life."

Whereupon, Johnson, who had taken the Moran match something in the nature of a joke, and who didn't intend to do any condition training, started in to train as earnest as he trained for his match when he took the title from Jeffries.

Johnson just now is said to weigh over 250. And he has grown bulkily amidst his and his once wonderful muscles are softened and covered with layers of fat. And, if you wish to take Moran's word for it, his wind is gone, his speed is a minus quality, and he's quite generally on the friz.

"Ah reckon ah am some pounds ovah weight," remarked Johnson at the outset of his training, "and ah knows that right jest now ah wouldn't be able to fight like a champion. But ah've got ovah two months to get into shape and ah'm gwine to get into shape—get into such condition that Mistah Moran will be a mightily fooled puhkan. And when ah gets Mistah Moran in the ring with me you all can depend upon it that ah won't forget what that Moran puhkan said about me. I'll make him eat his wud's. And ah'll show him a few tricks about fightin' that he hain't learned before. When ah gets through with Mistah Moran ah think's ah'll have convinced the people in America that Moran was so'ta mistaken when he said ah'm all in."

Johnson some few weeks ago started training by doing light road work. Each day he increased the distance travelled, and it is said that the exercise is taking off a lot of bulk. Johnson intends devoting the last month before the fight in gymnasium work.

OLD GALEVILLE FORD.

Editor LeFevre Settles Question Historical Society Disputed Over.

The members of the Minniss Valley Historical Society and of the Historical Society of Newburgh Bay and the Highlands have been discussing and disagreeing about the location of the old ford on the Wallkill above Galeville, in the town of Shawangunk, and finally referred the matter to Judge Clearwater, whose ancestors were partners of Governor Rip Van Dam and Colonel William Peartree in the ownership of a large portion of the land in that vicinity, the patent being granted by Queen Anne in 1709. The judge in turn referred the question of the location of the ford to Ralph LeFevre, the editor of the New Paltz Independent, the great authority on historical matters in southern Ulster, and Editor LeFevre in the last number of the Independent says:

Judge A. T. Clearwater writes: "In 1732 the provincial legislature passed an act appointing commissioners to lay out a highway between Shawangunk and the Hudson river at what is now Newburgh, and described the road as 'extending from Shawangunk over the Paltz creek to a certain noted place for ford, distinguished by the pine tree standing on the bank of the Paltz creek on the land of Rip Van Dam and Company, and from thence along that tract on the east side of the Paltz kill etc., etc.'" See colonial laws of New York, volume 2, page 743. Can you tell precisely where that ford was located?

The ford is between Galeville and Wallkill, about three-fourths of a mile above Galeville, on the farm owned by Patrick Bannon's daughters, adjoining the place of Simon DuBois. Rip Van Dam was a partner in three different patents in Shawangunk, all granted in 1709, namely, the Peartree patent of 4,000 acres, west of Galeville, in which Judge Clearwater's ancestors, Funise Jacobse and Jacob Clearwater, were also partners; then the Bookman patent of 3,000 acres on the west side of the Wallkill (there called the Paltz creek) at what is now called Wallkill, and lastly the Rip Van Dam patent of 3,500 acres east of Wallkill and forming the southeast bounds of the precinct of Shawangunk, as established in 1709. From the description in Judge Clearwater's letter there can be little doubt that the highway laid out, as it runs, today, on the east side of the Wallkill, from the Galeville ford to Wallkill and thence to Newburgh.

Tee Up! Smoke Up!

AS satisfying as the sounding smack of the perfect drive, is the open-air relish of the perfect smoke—Tuxedo. Both go together, too. When you grab your bag and start for the links, grab your tin of Tuxedo and take it along.

"Follow through" the snappy afternoon with Tuxedo. Put Tuxedo in your pipe and you will "put" the best. And at "the nineteenth hole" rest up and relax with a good, solid smoke of Tuxedo. That's the advice of good golfers everywhere.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

It's worth your while to try Tuxedo. Especially if a sensitive tongue prevents pipe smoking.

Tuxedo positively cannot bite—not even if you smoke pipeful after pipeful, as many as you can crowd into a day or a week.

Tuxedo is made of only the finest, choicest, selected leaves of perfectly aged Burley tobacco. It is made by the original "Tuxedo Process" which removes every trace of bite and sting and develops all the wonderful mildness, fragrance and flavor of the Burley Leaf in a way that no other brand of tobacco has ever successfully imitated.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 15, 1914.

The Harry Thaw scandal has broken out afresh in New Hampshire, a Federal Judge having granted a writ of habeas corpus in Thaw's favor, at the same time absurdly keeping him in custody. It must take a lot of courage in a Judge to hand down such a preposterous decision, which is calculated to make suspicious persons think he has been bribed, when as a matter of fact he may be only muddle-headed. On the same day Governor Glynn thought fit to veto the Blauvelt bills providing for a new method of handling cases like Thaw's. These measures created a new plea, "Gully but insane," and were approved by the State Bar Association. In his memorandum regarding his veto the Governor acknowledges the sincere purpose behind this proposed legislation, but expresses the fear that under its operation the death penalty for first degree murderers would be eliminated. He suggests that there be "further investigation and discussion before the existing law is amended." It ought not to be difficult to meet the objection of the Governor, which is also raised by District Attorney Whitman, and it is likely that next year we shall have put upon the statute books an act which will put an end to such disgraceful juggling as has characterized the Thaw proceedings.

No matter how firmly one may believe in peace conferences and arbitration, it is dangerous to advance such ideas now. Any one who disapproves of invading Mexico in case she fails to fire a salute of apology for insulting our flag is no better than a "Copperhead." We read in a despatch to the conservative New York Times that "news of the mobilization of the fleet at Tampico was received with great interest and enthusiasm in the Senate." All the despatches agree with this. Senator Borah, who, like other Presidential aspirants, endeavors to take the popular course, goes so far as to say: "If the flag of the United States is ever run up in Mexico it will never come down. This is the beginning of the march of the United States to the Panama Canal." That is an interesting prospect. Of the Mexican population something like 7,000,000 are Indians, which is undoubtedly a larger number than existed in the territory now known as the United States when the whites first came here. By looking back over the long and bloody history of our Indian wars we can see what is ahead of us if we try to bring Mexico up to our standard of civilization. We must literally kill millions of savages, incidentally losing a host of our young men who might better be engaged in productive labor. However this crisis results, the impartial and peace-loving observer must reach the conclusion that every move Wilson has made thus far has been a blunder.

The hope that the Administration would abandon its plan to enact additional anti-trust legislation seems to have been unfounded. In place of the four bills introduced some months ago one bill containing the salient features of all of them has been presented. It does a number of things which would be better left undone. It prohibits interlocking directorates, which might be a good thing theoretically, but which from a practical standpoint is only a "dream," as it was characterized by Charles E. Hughes long ago. It contains a number of new definitions of business crimes, which are unnecessary, since the existing law covers all wrongful practices, and the new definitions would have to be interpreted by the courts, thus delaying the establishment of that settled condition of business practices which is so strongly desired by everybody who has the prosperity of the country at heart. Some limitations are put on the power of courts to issue injunctions against labor organizations which think they have a right to destroy the property of employers who decline to raise their wages, and there are to be jury trials in case of indirect contempt of court. What benefit this would be to any law-abiding citizen we fail to see. There is no excuse whatever for this "moon-kering" with the anti-trust law, which has proved itself sufficient for every reasonable purpose. President Wilson states that the Democratic party is pledged by its platform to do these things, but that is nonsense in view of Secretary Bryan's account of how the platform was put through without any considerable number of the delegates knowing what it contained.

A TEST.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

It is said that the late Dowager Empress of Japan was a "womanly woman," and, according to some of the stories related about her one judges she was.

But the standard of the womanly woman varies according to the customs and conventions of the land where she lives. And one must wonder if the Empress so thoroughly endorsed all the customs of Japan that she found it easy to remain sweet and womanly through a very hard test put upon her.

The Empress was childless, a fact which brought great sadness into her life; but there must be an heir to the throne, and so she adopted as her own the young child of one of the Mikado's secondary wives and devoted her time to fitting him for the position he was to occupy.

To be womanly sweet and true to the child—that was easy to the right kind of woman-heart, in spite of the strange combination. But to be womanly, sweet and true to the custom—nothing but stern old training passing on and on through the centuries could encompass that. Because it matters not the land of her birth, matters not the color of her skin nor the tongue that she speaks, the womanly heart beats away with the same old throbs and thrills and emotions all over the world.

Custom, as it runs in the Orient, may permit an emperor to have as many secondary wives as he likes and may permit his subjects who can afford it to follow in his steps as closely as may be. Custom may bid women bow their heads in submission, and it may make them outwardly obedient, for perhaps all of us know how relentless custom may grow.

But we of the Occident cannot believe that custom can make women thoroughly subscribe to a decree like that, for hearts were created before ever custom was born. And the heart of a man and the heart of a woman are pretty much alike, no matter what the custom may say.

The womanly woman?

Who knows what the womanly woman of Japan may be when the example of the present Emperor and the most advanced of his subjects shall be followed by the many, and when all Japanese women shall be free to develop as nature intended? Because one need not be a deep student of human nature to know very well that no woman is expressing herself, her hopes, her prayers and the desires of her heart when she takes her place as one among many wives. She may still her protests, but along with the stillings goes some of her Heaven-born womanliness, just as the real manliness of man would slip under cover if he were custom-bound until he scarcely knew himself.

The womanly woman should be the same all over the world, no less than the manly man, for when woman came, fresh from the hands of her Creator, she bore the nature-stamp of womanliness, irrespective of her country's standard. And no standard varying as countries vary, can get at the self that is back of the standard, the womanliness that would be rated as womanly in every corner of the globe if one country after another did not attempt so many unnatural markings.

And always when one gets a dim echo of the hardship involved in a custom like this—a custom which gives fair promise of dying away in Japan—or in any other custom that prescribes with discriminating heaviness, one listens rather attentively, because it gives striking emphasis to the fact that women would be happier and perhaps the whole world would be better with customs and conventions for men and women the same.

And always comes the instinctive question: Why were they made any different? Here in our own freer land they have kept growing nearer and nearer, and one believes that as thoughtful folk look back upon the customs and conventions that have changed, they are glad to admit that the newer ways are better. And as these same thoughtful folk reflect upon the ways in which they are still apart one also believes conviction will come that there is room for improvement.

UNION CARPENTERS RETURN TO WORK

All of the union carpenters who went out on strike on Monday returned to work this morning, accepting the compromise offered by the local contractors granting an increase in wages of two and one-half cents an hour to go into effect the first of July. Their wages will then be 42½ cents an hour.

The action taken by the carpenters was the outcome of the meeting of the union held on Tuesday evening. Just what occurred at the meeting could not be learned.

The strike started when the contractors refused to grant the union's demand for an increase in wages of five cents an hour for an eight hour day and a half holiday on Saturday. The contractors offered to give the union men two and one-half cents an hour increase to go into effect July 1. The union was willing to accept the increase provided it dated from April 1, to which the contractors would not agree and the men struck.

Stag Social at Y. M. C. A.

This evening the most important event of the season will be held at the Y. M. C. A. when the senior stag social will be held under the auspices of the social committee of the association. Over seven hundred and fifty invitations have been sent out and the committee is arranging to entertain the large number of men who are expected to be present. A fine program has also been arranged for the occasion. A stereopticon talk on Mexico will be given by the Rev. F. B. Seely, illustrated by one hundred art slides. Considering the delicate condition existing between that country and our own at the present time the lecture is especially timely. City Treasurer Floyd Powell and Harry Every will hold an animated discussion on the oyster and an eight piece orchestra will render a fine musical program. Vocal solos will also be rendered. After the entertainment a social hour will be enjoyed and fine refreshments served. Every senior should make it a point to attend.

Vincent Astor III.

Vincent Astor, the young Rhinebeck millionaire, is seriously ill with congestion of the right lung at the home of his fiancée, Miss Helen Huntington, at Staatsburgh. He recently recovered from an attack of bronchitis. For a few days it was thought he had pneumonia but the specialists in attendance say the crisis has been safely passed. On account of his illness it may be necessary to postpone the wedding, which was set for April 30.

Barnes Says City Paid Too Much

Arthur S. Barnes, a former deputy corporation counsel of New York city, has reported to the city chamberlain that the price the city paid for the Ulster and Delaware Railroad was between $800,000 and $1,500,000 too much. There is no allegation of fraud or impropriety.

CITY CLEAN-UP DAY PLANNED FOR MAY 9

Board of Health Fixes That Date After the Usual Discussion of Pigs, Slaughter Houses, Milk and Other Topics.

Pigs, pure milk, outside vaults, a general clean up day and Jacob Forst's refusal to apply for a slaughter house permit and he being given five more days to comply with the order requiring permits or legal action would be taken, were a few of the questions that occupied the attention of the board of health on Tuesday evening at its regular monthly meeting held at the city hall. Two new jobs were also suggested, that of a board of health policeman garbed in blue with brass buttons to camp on the trail of the guilty parties who slaughter beef in the city, and that of a milk inspector, but no action was taken as the board's finances will not permit of any additional expense at the present time.

A letter was read by Secretary Kaplan from Jacob Forst in which he stated that the board had issued him a permit to slaughter some years ago, and relying on that permit he had expended thousands of dollars in erecting a plant and establishing a large business and that he had always kept his place in a sanitary condition.

At the March meeting of the board of health all slaughter house permits were revoked to go into effect the first of April and all persons doing slaughtering were required to apply for new permits. Complying with the request of the board Sanitary Inspector Quigley reported that the only one doing slaughtering at the present time who had not secured a new permit was Jacob Forst.

Forst Consults a Lawyer.

Mr. Quigley said he called Mr. Forst's attention to the fact that his permit issued thirty years ago had been revoked and that it was necessary to secure a new permit if he wished to continue doing slaughtering, and Mr. Forst had informed him that he had consulted a lawyer who had told him that his old permit was good until charges had been preferred against his place of business and so he did not see the need of asking for another permit as all he wanted was one, which he had.

The Board's Ultimatum.

Commissioner McBride moved that if Mr. Forst did not apply for a permit within five days that the matter be placed in the hands of the corporation counsel to take legal action against Forst. The charge against Forst, if he does not secure a permit, will be that of a misdemeanor. The motion of Mr. McBride was unanimously carried.

Wants to Keep Pigs.

A request was received from Mrs. A. B. Merritt, 426 Washington street, to keep pigs. Commissioner Michael said she had inspected Mrs. Merritt's place and that it was away out in the country and there was no houses in the immediate vicinity. Her place was in a clean and sanitary condition and Mrs. Michael moved that the permit be granted, which was done.

He Wants to Keep Pigs too.

Granville Van Buren of 18 Joy's Lane, appeared before the board and stated that he kept nine pigs and as he saw in the paper it was necessary to have a permit he asked that one be issued to him. None of the members of the board had inspected his place and the matter was referred to the sanitary committee, better known as the pig committee, to investigate and report to the board before a permit was issued.

Shall Schools be Closed.

It was brought out at the meeting that at the present time there are twelve cases of scarlet fever in the city and that a number of people were becoming frightened and had asked the board of education to keep the city schools closed another week for fear of an epidemic. Health Officer Stelle said that the twelve cases were widely scattered about the city and he hardly thought it necessary as yet to close the schools. The matter was finally left to the discretion of Dr. Stelle to take whatever action may be deemed necessary. Unless the disease spreads it is hardly likely that the schools will be closed.

Health Board Police Needed.

Abram Basch's butcher shop at 25 East Union street, where Mrs. Michael recently found a calf in the cooler, also came in for discussion. Sanitary Inspector Quigley in his report to the board stated that the place was dirty. It will be remembered that the following day after Mrs. Michael had reported finding the calf in the cooler it mysteriously disappeared when Mr. Quigley went to investigate. Mr. Basch stated that he did not do any business in selling meat, but the members of the board stated that when they went to his shop early in the morning they found considerable meat in the shop, but when they went there late in the afternoon the shop was cleaned out of meat.

Commissioner McBride said that he believed that the board should have a special policeman to investigate these cases and also the cases of where beef was slaughtered in the city.

It was finally decided that it would be better to ask the active cooperation of the police force and the secretary was instructed to write the board of police commissioners in regard to the matter.

Henry Street Complaint.

A petition addressed to the board was read calling attention to the unsanitary condition of the outside vault in the rear of 85 Henry street occupied by Edward Quigley and George Grear and owned by Mrs. Mary Mallock of Highland. The petition was signed by Chauncey L. Smith, S. W. Doyle, Jennie M. Elting, E. M. Strickland and Jerome C. Cover. Mrs. L. C. Smith also appeared in person at the meeting in regard to the vault and stated that it had not been cleaned in sixteen years and was a menace to the neighborhood.

Commissioner McBride moved that the owner be notified to discontinue the outside vault and connect up with the sewer within 30 days.

The Milk Question.

Edgar N. Palen, president of the Municipal League and Dr. Henry Van Hovenberg, a member of the league, appeared as a committee to ask the board to take some steps towards having the source of the milk supply investigated.

Mr. Palen said there seems to be no inspection of the source of the supply. Peddlers had to have licenses and he wanted to know if there could not be some plan adopted requiring those who sold milk to the local dealers to have their places inspected.

The board was of the opinion that it had no jurisdiction outside the city and that the state was supposed to have inspectors who investigated dairies.

Dr. Van Hovenberg said he had found milk that was extremely dirty and that some steps to enforce the rule of selling clean milk in the city, should be taken and that the board ought to hire inspectors.

Mr. Palen said he understood that the finances of the board might not warrant the additional expense of hiring inspectors but the league was willing to furnish volunteer inspectors who would work in co-operation with the board without pay.

Milk Dealers to Tell Source.

After considerable discussion Commissioner McBride moved that the secretary be instructed to take the matter up with the local milk dealers and have them furnish him with complete data in regard to where they secure the milk they sell within 10 days. Carried.

The board believe that by securing this data it will be in a position to know what places should be inspected.

Save the Baby Exhibit.

Dr. Stelle reported that he had received a communication from the state department that the save the baby exhibit would be in this city May 6 to 8. After some discussion it was finally decided to make efforts to secure the armory for the exhibit.

Clean Up Day.

Mrs. Michael reported that the Federation of Women's Clubs were anxious to have the board of health co-operate in a general clean up day campaign in the city, and after some discussion Commissioner Mahar moved that Saturday, May 9, be set aside for a general clean up day. Carried.

Meeting Room Needs Cleaning.

The attention of the board was also called to the filthy condition of the carpet on the floor of the board of health room and also to the furniture which threatened to drop every time a commissioner sat down in a chair. It was finally decided to have the carpet taken up and the floor varnished. The question of new furniture will be taken up later.

Health Officer's Report.

Health Officer Stelle reported for the month the following communicable diseases: Cancer 1; Diphtheria 1; Measles 175; scarlet fever 12; chicken pox 4; tuberculosis 4; a total of 197 cases.

Sanitary Inspector Quigley presented the following report for March:

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, April 15.—It's too hard for Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, that he didn't learn a wee bit sooner that, in some instances, "silence is golden."

Because he didn't, and because he wasn't even discreetly silent, for the first few days after his return from Europe he has angered "Hill Athlete" Johnson, a colored punching person, which means that Frank is due for a nice little beating in Paris on June 27.

Frank, it may be recalled, is matched to meet Johnson, the heavy-weight champion of the world, at the place and on the date just mentioned above. Immediately after the match was made Moran sailed from Paris to these shores, probably for the secret purpose of giving his relatives and the scenes of his childhood one last fond look. Publicly he said it was because he wanted to condition himself here for his battle.

Well, to proceed with the story, Frank, upon landing, began to issue boastful statements regarding what he would do to Johnson, and belittling statements concerning the prowess of the ebony person.

Frank shouted as loud as his lusty lungs would permit, that he would knock out Johnson in twelve rounds "and perhaps less," that "Johnson has gone back" and that "Johnson is a wreck from dissipation."

In due course of time these statements, printed in sassy looking type in numerous American papers, reached the giddy city of Paris. Also they reached Mr. Johnson who took out his specs, applied them to his eyes, and then focused the eyes upon the sporting pages, giving the statements the up and down, the once over and several other things that one gives to something that vitally interests one.

In equipping Mr. Johnson with specs we are assuming what might be poetic licence. It is not generally known in this country that the colored wallpiper wears specs. Nor have we any authentic information to that effect. But we have Mr. Moran's word for it that Mr. Johnson is a wreck, and it's our idea that one cannot be a physical wreck without also being almost blind. Therefore, we have given Mr. Johnson a pair of specs. If he doesn't need them he can send them back.

But it matters not whether Johnson absorbed Moran's remarks through the medium of specs or not. The fact remains that he absorbed them. And it is said that the oftener Johnson looked at those remarks of the second-rate American "white hope" the greater became his anger and indignation.

"Ah, was wise to let that fellow down kinda easy like," snorted Johnson, "but ah've changed mah mind. I'm gwine to train good now and I'm gwine to give Moran the 'olst' lickin' I evah gave any man in mah life."

Whereupon, Johnson, who had taken the Moran match something in the nature of a joke, and who didn't intend to do any vigorous training, started in to condition himself in as earnest a manner as he trained for his match when he took the title from Jeffries.

Johnson just now is said to weigh over 250. And he has grown bulkily and his once wonderful muscles are softened and covered with layers of fat. And, if you wish to take Moran's word for it, his wind is gone, his speed is a minus quality and he's quite generally on the fritz.

"Ah reckon ah am some pounds ovah weight," remarked Johnson at the outset of his training, "and ah wouldn't be able to fight like a champion. But ah've got ovah two months to get into shape and ah'm gwine to get into shape—get into such condition that Mistah Moran will be a mightily fooled pusion. And when ah gets Mistah Moran in the ring with me you all can depend upon it that ah won't forget what that Moran nusion said about me. I'll make him eat his w'ds. And ah'll show him a few tricks about fightin' that he hasn't learned before. When ah think's ah'll have convinced the people in America that Moran was so'ta mistaken when he said ah'm all in."

Johnson some few weeks ago started training by doing light road work. Each day he increased the distance travelled, and it is said that the exercise is taking off a lot of bulk. Johnson intends devoting the last month before the fight in gymnasium work.

VOTE OFFICIALLY COUNTED.

Board of County Canvassers Meets and Does its Work.

The board of supervisors which organized as a board of canvassers on Tuesday at noon at the county clerk's office and adjourned to the court house finished its labors shortly after 4 o'clock that afternoon and adjourned. The results of the official canvass of the votes cast in Ulster county at the special election were practically the same as printed in The Freeman the day after election and showed that 6,079 ballots had cast. Of this number 1,063 were in the affirmative and 4,935 in the negative. There was 54 void ballots and 27 blanks.

The following committees were appointed by Chairman Schermerhorn. On examining returns—Philip Schantz, William I. Hartshorn, Jacob V. Merrihew.

On reading returns—William McElhone, T. I. Rifenbary, Daniel E. Schoonmaker.

On tabulating returns—E. T. Shultis, George Schick, Elting L. Simpkins.

Hot Liners.

I cannot say the things I feel,
I watch the score board and I reel;
The home team lost a game today,
And all the world seems sad and gray.

The Federals are bears at producing that one to nothing brand of ball.

Some of the baseball magnates are now litigating over .300 per cent.

Immediately after Captain Magee of the Phillies lined out his first home run in the game with the Giants, Rube Marquard began to ascend and after the second Mr. Marquard was just visible to the naked eye.

Nix, Gerald, Pitcher Boardman of the Athletics, is in no wise related to Pitcher Plank of the same team.

President Wilson will have to declare war on Mexico if he wants to get into bigger type in the Washington newspapers than Walt Johnson.

Ty Cobb, like wine, seems to improve with age. His three base walk which won the game for the Tigers, shows that he is still to be considered among those present.

It cost George Mitchell, the British amateur boxer, $5,000 to be knocked out by Georges Carpentier, the French champion, last night, as he bore all expenses. If that is the price of a knockout the average American white hope would have to be as rich as a big business bandit.

The court and links each calls its own.
The days are getting warm and bright.
Dust off the racquet and the club
These afternoons are out of sight.

There is something radically wrong. The National League season is two days old and John McGraw has not laid claim to the 1914 pennant.

Rube Marquard is the holder of another record. He is the first pitcher of the season to be batted out of the box.

Gunboat Smith threatens to make Georges Carpentier think he is the whole American navy, which indicates that Mr. Smith is some confident.

They ought to send Sherwood Magee and his big stick down to Mexico if there is to be any rough work in this salute the flag business.

Burned by Blazing Oil.

Mrs. Maria Shaw was badly burned at her home in Marlborough a few days ago. A lighted lamp fell from a shelf and the oil spilled over her dress and caught fire. Mrs. Warren extinguished the blaze in short order but not until one of her arms had been badly burned.

"Pipe smoking gives added pleasure to a golfer when the pipe is filled with Tuxedo. Tuxedo provides more keen enjoyment than any other tobacco I know."

OLD GALEVILLE FORD.

Editor LeFevre Settles Question
Historical Society Disputed Over.

The members of the Minnissink Valley Historical Society and of the Historical Society of Newburgh Bay and the Highlands have been discussing and disagreeing about the location of the old ford on the Walkkill above Galeville, in the town of Shawangunk, and finally referred the matter to Judge Clearwater, whose ancestors were partners of Governor Rip Van Dam and Colonel William Peartree in the ownership of a large portion of the land in that vicinity, the patent being granted by Queen Anne in 1709. The judge in turn referred the question of the location of the ford to Ralph LeFevre, the editor of the New Paltz Independent, the great authority on historical matters in southern Ulster, and Editor LeFevre in the last number of the Independent says:

Judge A. T. Clearwater writes: "In 1732 the provincial legislature passed an act appointing commissioners to lay out a highway between Shawangunk and the Hudson river at what is now Newburgh, and described the road as 'extending from Shawangunk over the Paltz creek to a certain noted place for ford, distinguished by the pine tree standing on the bank of the Paltz creek on the land of Rip Van Dam and Company, and thence along that tract on the east side of the Paltz creek etc., etc.' See colonial laws of New York, volume 2, page 743. Can you tell precisely where that ford was located?"

The ford is between Galeville and Walkkill, about three-fourths of a mile above Galeville, on the farm owned by Patrick Bannion's daughters, adjoining the place of Simon DuBois. Rip Van Dam was a partner in three different patents in Shawangunk, all granted in 1709, namely, the Peartree patent of 4,000 acres, west of Galeville, in which Judge Clearwater's ancestors, Tunise Jacobse and Jacob Clearwater, were also partners; then the Beekman patent of 3,000 acres on the west side of the Walkkill (here called the Paltz creek) at what is now called Walkkill, and lastly the Rip Van Dam patent of 3,500 acres east of Walkkill and forming the southeast bounds of the precinct of Shawangunk, as established in 1709. From the description in Judge Clearwater's letter there can be little doubt that the highway laid out, as it runs, today, on the east side of the Walkkill, from the Galeville ford to Walkkill and thence to Newburgh.

Young Athletes Won.

The Young Athletes defeated the Young Cubs in a fast game of baseball on Tuesday afternoon by a score of 22 to 20. The battery for the Athletes were Jim Winters, pitcher, and Floyd Bird, catcher. The Cubs battery was Fred Van Wageningen, pitcher, and Blair Muller, catcher.

Tee Up! Smoke Up!

As satisfying as the sounding smack of the perfect drive, is the open-air relish of the perfect smoke—Tuxedo. Both go together, too. When you grab your bag and start for the links, grab up your tin of Tuxedo and take it along.

"Follow through" the snappy afternoon with Tuxedo. Put Tuxedo in your pipe and you will "put" the best. And at "the nineteenth hole" rest up and relax with a good, solid smoke of Tuxedo. That's the advice of good golfers everywhere.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

It's worth your while to try Tuxedo. Especially if a sensitive tongue prevents pipe smoking.

Tuxedo positively cannot bite—not even if you smoke pipeful after pipeful, as many as you can crowd into a day or a week.

Tuxedo is made of only the finest, choicest, selected leaves of perfectly aged Burley tobacco. It is made by the original "Tuxedo Process" which removes every trace of bite and sting and develops all the wonderful mildness, fragrance and flavor of the Burley Leaf in a way that no other brand of tobacco has ever successfully imitated.

MEXICAN INSULTS HAVE BEEN MANY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, April 15.—That the arrest of Paymaster Coop and nine American marines at Tampico last Thursday was but one of a number of studied insults to the American flag by the Huerta government in Mexico became known today when the state department lifted the embargo on Mexican news for the first time. A memorandum given out by government officials detailed a number of such insults to the American flag and to American officials and indicated that the despatch of the Atlantic fleet to Tampico was the result, not of any one incident, but of a score of thrusts at the United States by President Huerta and his officials.

For some time past, the official memorandum stated, the defacto government of Mexico has seemed to think more apology sufficient when the rights of American citizens, or the dignity of the government of the United States was involved and has apparently made no attempt at reparation or effective correction of the serious dereliction of its civil and military officers.

Immediately after the incident at Tampico, it became known today in an order in uniform from one of the ships of the United States in the harbor of Vera Cruz, who had been sent ashore to the post office for the ship's mail, was arrested and jailed by the local authorities. He was subsequently released and a nominal punishment inflicted upon the officer who arrested him, but the administration regards it as significant that an order from the fleet of the United States was picked out from the many persons who are constantly going ashore on errands from the warships in the harbor representing several nations.

The most serious offense of all, however, was the forcible censorship by the Huerta government of an official despatch from the state department to Charge O'Shaughnessy. This incident, occurred a few days ago when the officials in charge of the telegraph offices at Mexico City presumed to withhold an official despatch of the government of the United States to its embassy at Mexico City until it should have been sent to the censor and his permission received to deliver it. Huerta's officials gave the despatch to Charge O'Shaughnessy only upon his personal and emphatic demand, he having learned through other channels that a despatch had been sent to him which he had not received.

These repeated offenses against the rights and dignity of the United States, offenses not duplicated with regard to the report of other governments, have made the impression that the government of the United States was singled out for manifestations of ill-will.

The authorities of the state department, it was officially stated here today, feel confident that when the seriousness and cumulative effect of these incidents are made evident to the government of Mexico, that government will see the necessity of giving such evidences of its desire to repudiate and correct these discourtesies as will not only be satisfactory to the government of the United States but also will be evident to the rest of the world, of an entire change of attitude.

"There could be no loss to the dignity of the de facto government of Mexico," it was stated at the state department, "in recognizing in the fullest degree the claims of a great sovereign government, to its respect."

CITY CLEAN-UP DAY PLANNED FOR MAY 9

Board of Health Fixes That Date
After the Usual Discussion of Pigs, Slaughter Houses, Milk and Other Topics.

Pigs, pure milk, outside vaults, a general clean up day and Jacob Forst's refusal to apply for a slaughter house permit and he being given five more days to comply with the order requiring permits or legal action would be taken, were a few of the questions that occupied the attention of the board of health on Tuesday evening at its regular monthly meeting held at the city hall. Two new jobs were also suggested, that of a board of health policeman garbed in blue with brass buttons to camp on the trail of the guilty parties who slaughter hogs in the city, and that of a milk inspector, but no action was taken as the board's finances will not permit of any additional expense at the present time.

A letter was read by Secretary Kaplan from Jacob Forst in which he stated that the board had issued him a permit to slaughter some years ago, and relying on that permit he had expended thousands of dollars in erecting a plant and establishing a large business and that he had always kept his place in a sanitary condition.

At the March meeting of the board of health all slaughter house permits were revoked to go into effect the first of April and all persons doing slaughtering were required to apply for new permits. Complying with the request of the board Sanitary Inspector Quigley reported that the only one doing slaughtering at the present time who had not secured a new permit was Jacob Forst.

Forst Consults a Lawyer.

Mr. Quigley said he called Mr. Forst's attention to the fact that his permit issued thirty years ago had been revoked and that it was necessary to secure a new permit if he wished to continue doing slaughtering, and Mr. Forst had informed him that he had consulted a lawyer who had told him that his old permit was good until charges had been preferred against his place of business and so he did not see the need of asking for another permit as all he wanted was one, which he had.

The Board's Ultimatum.

Commissioner McBride moved that if Mr. Forst did not apply for a permit within five days that the matter be placed in the hands of the corporation counsel to take legal action against Forst. The charge against Forst, if he does not secure a permit, will be that of a misdemeanor. The motion of Mr. McBride was unanimously carried.

Wants to Keep Pigs.

A request was received from Mrs. A. B. Ryan of 78 Boulevard for a permit to keep pigs. Commissioner Michael said she had inspected Mrs. Ryan's place and that it was away out in the country and there was no houses in the immediate vicinity. Her place was in a clean and sanitary condition and Mrs. Michael moved that the permit be granted, which was done.

He Wants to Keep Pigs too.

Granville Van Buren of 18 Joy's Lane, appeared before the board and stated that he kept nine pigs and as he saw in the paper it was necessary to have a permit he asked that one be issued to him.

None of the members of the board had inspected his place and the matter was referred to the sanitary committee, better known as the pig committee, to investigate and report to the board before a permit was issued.

Shall Schools be Closed.

It was brought out at the meeting that at the present time there are twelve cases of scarlet fever in the city and that a number of people were becoming frightened and had asked the board of education to keep the city schools closed another week for fear of an epidemic.

Health Officer Stelle said that the twelve cases were widely scattered about the city and he hardly thought it necessary as yet to close the schools. The matter was finally left to the discretion of Dr. Stelle to take whatever action may be deemed necessary. Unless the disease spreads it is hardly likely that the schools will be closed.

Health Board Police Needed.

Abram Basch's butcher shop at 25 East Union street, where Mrs. Michael recently found a calf in the cooler, also came in for discussion. Sanitary Inspector Quigley in his report to the board stated that the place was dirty. It will be remembered that the following day after Mrs. Michael had reported finding the calf in the cooler it mysteriously disappeared when Mr. Quigley went to investigate. Mr. Basch stated that he did not do any business in selling meat, but the members of the board stated that when they went to his shop early in the morning they found considerable meat in the shop, but when they went there late in the afternoon the shop was cleaned out of meat.

Commissioner McBride said that he believed that the board should have a special policeman to investigate these cases and also the cases of where hogs were slaughtered in the city.

It was finally decided that it would be better to ask the active co-operation of the police force and the secretary was instructed to write the board of police commissioners in regard to the matter.

The members of the board were of the opinion that it could not afford to hire a special man to act as policeman at the present time.

Henry Street Complaint.

A petition addressed to the board was read calling attention to the unsanitary condition of the outside vault in the rear of 85 Henry street occupied by Edward Quigley and George Grear and owned by Mrs. Mary Mallock of Highland. The petition man, 179 Hasbrouck avenue, has white washed ceilings and side walls, condition improved; Jacob Hauck, 62 Broadway; A. Maxon, 767 Broadway; Edward C. Post, 880 Broadway; Frank Reher, 101 Broadway; Elizabeth Salzmann, 109 Abeel street; Leonard Salzmann, 11 Sycamore street; Christian Schwenk, 201 Foxhall avenue; John Spalt, 514 Delaware avenue; Ezra Spencer, 404 Washington avenue; Gustav Teichler, 145 Hasbrouck avenue; The French Bakery, 560 Broadway (making improvements to shop); The Mohican Company, 296 Wall street, condition good.

The Milk Question.

Edgar N. Palen, president of the Municipal League and Dr. Henry Van Hoevenberg, a member of the league, appeared as a committee to ask the board to take some steps towards having the source of the milk supply investigated.

Mr. Palen said there seems to be no inspection of the source of the supply. Peddlers had to have licenses and he wanted to know if there could not be some plan adopted requiring those who sold milk to the local dealers to have their places inspected.

The board was of the opinion that it had no jurisdiction outside the city and that the state was supposed to take care of the milk supply.

Dr. Van Hoevenberg said he had found milk that was extremely dirty and that some steps to enforce the rule of selling clean milk in the city should be taken and that the board ought to hire inspectors.

Mr. Palen said he understood that the finances of the board might not warrant the additional expense of hiring inspectors but the league was willing to furnish volunteer inspectors who would work in co-operation with the board without pay.

Milk Dealers to Tell Source.

After considerable discussion Commissioner McBride moved that the secretary be instructed to take the matter up with the local milk dealers and have them furnish him with complete data in regard to where they secure the milk they sell within 10 days. Carried.

The board believe that by securing this data it will be in a position to know what places should be inspected.

Save the Baby Exhibit.

Dr. Stelle reported that he had received a communication from the state department that the save the baby exhibit would be in this city May 6 to 8. After some discussion it was finally decided to make efforts to secure the armory for the exhibit.

Clean Up Day.

Mrs. Michael reported that the Federation of Women's Clubs were anxious to have the board of health co-operate in a general clean up day campaign in the city, and after some discussion Commissioner Mahar moved that Saturday, May 9, be set aside for a general clean up day. Carried.

Meeting Room Needs Cleaning.

The attention of the board was also called to the filthy condition of the carpet on the floor of the board of health room and also to the furniture which threatened to drop every time a commissioner sat down in a chair. It was finally decided to have the carpet taken up and the floor varnished. The question of new furniture will be taken up later.

Health Officer's Report.

Health Officer Stelle reported for the month the following communicable diseases: Cancer 1; Diphtheria 1. Measles 175; scarlet fever 12; chicken pox 4; tuberculosis 4; a total of 197 cases.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 15.—Although a number of the standard issues began at a lower price range at the opening of the stock market today, the undertone was steady. In a number of instances issues which began fractionally off rallied and recovered and made gains. The overnight developments in the Mexican situation and the possibilities from that quarter failed to have the depressing effect which had been anticipated, although Mexican Petroleum was under pressure, yielding more than one point in the first few minutes. Some traders were comparatively heavy sellers but the absorption was good. United States Steel common began with a loss of 1/4 but quickly recovered and made a net gain. Similar advances after opening losses were recorded in Union Pacific, Reading, Lehigh Valley and Amalgamated Copper. Canadian Pacific was in good demand going to 200 1/4 for an advance of 1/4. Southern Pacific opened unchanged but immediately gained 1/4. St. Paul began 1/4 lower but recovered. The curb was steady. American securities in London were quiet but their tone was firm. The Mexican situation was the chief feature of interest relative to the action of American shares. Canadian Pacific in London advanced more than a point.

Non.—The tone was steady in the late forenoon. The pressure in evidence for the past few days had for the time at least disappeared. Missouri, Kansas and Texas preferred was weak however, declining 1/4 to 28 1/2. United States Steel common advanced 1/4, Union Pacific 1/4, Amalgamated Copper 1/4, Reading 1/4. Other issues slightly higher. Call money leading at 1 1/4 per cent. 2:30 p. m. In the last hour a number of stocks were under their midway range but there were no features in the price movements. Union Pacific held at 155 1/4 for the loss of 1/4 from noon and Canadian Pacific was 1/4 under its midday quotation. Reading sold around 163 1/4, the same price at which it opened. The tone was quiet.

The market closed steady. Governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

Quotations furnished by John D. Kling, Broadway and Strand, Kingston, N. Y., Tel. 93. Correspondent of C. H. Van Buren & Company, members of Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

S. Francis Quick, publisher of the Yonkers Statesman, died on Monday at his home in that place after a year's illness aged 84 years. He was president of S. F. Quick & Sons, Inc., builders. Mr. Quick was born in Rhinebeck. His wife, two sons and two daughters, survive.

Mary Perkins Warner, wife of Peter B. Warner, died at her home this morning. She was a daughter of the late Dr. Ebenezer K. Perkins and is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mary, wife of George H. Decker of Bay Ridge. The funeral will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock from the family residence, No. 14 Abell street.

The body of the man killed at Summitville last Tuesday has been identified as that of David Eller, a resident of Walden. He left his home that day and nothing was heard of him until Thursday when word was received from relatives that they had identified the body. Mrs. Eller, who was living in Liberty, went to the scene and identified the body by means of initials tattooed on his arm. He is survived by his wife and three daughters, Mrs. C. K. Hornbeck of Liberty, Mrs. Harry Chapman of Napanoch and Mrs. Floyd DeVoe of Walden. The funeral was held on Sunday in Walden.

The funeral of Fireman James J. Brennan was held this morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Mary's Church where mass was celebrated by the Rev. John J. Hickey, who also paid a warm tribute of eulogy to the memory of the deceased. The bearers were LaRue Weber, James Conlin and George Brown of the paid fire department and Thomas Murray, John McGovern and Charles J. Garsen of the volunteer fire company. Preceding the hearse in the funeral cortege were the board of fire commissioners and Clerk E. J. Hornbeck, Deputy Chief Joseph Murphy and a large delegation from the volunteer fire department and other organizations. There was a profusion of floral tributes. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. When the funeral was passing the city hall the fire alarm bell tolled mournfully until the last carriage had passed.

Cakes and Delegates.

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's Church will hold a cake and food sale in the parish house on Wall street on Saturday of this week at two o'clock. As many ladies of the parish as can find it convenient to do so are requested to make cakes for this sale, while those who cannot make cakes and the friends of the parish and general public are invited to patronize the sale and purchase the cakes, for upon the number of cakes sold will depend an important project of the auxiliary. At the close of the sale there will be a business meeting at which time plans, looking forward to the course upon the proceeds of the sale, will be made for sending a delegate or delegates to the mass meeting to be held in New York on May 22, for the further purpose of seeing what can be done to form a mission study class among the women of the auxiliary. Ladies, please bake or buy or do both next Saturday.

Minstrel Rehearsal.

There will be an important meeting of those young men who are to take part in the coming minstrel entertainments at St. John's Church at the parish house this evening. All who will take part in the minstrels next week Friday and Saturday evenings are urged to attend the rehearsal tonight. Incidentally the public is informed that several additional inspirations of a decidedly humorous nature have been received by the young men, and for once all the laughing muscles of one's anatomy will be well exercised if one attend the minstrels next week.

Dr. Rummel Sails.

The Very Rev. Dr. Joseph E. Rummel, pastor of St. Peter's Church, left Tuesday for New York on today in company with the Rev. Michael A. Nuefeld, a native of Kingston, sailed for a three months' trip to Rome and the Holy Land. William Derrenbacher, Nicholas Stock, Senator Jacob Rice and Michael A. Reis of St. Peter's congregation went to New York to bid him voyage to the departing clergyman.

Becker Trial May 6.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, April 15.—The second trial of ex-Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was today set for May 6th by Justice Seabury in the criminal branch of the supreme court. Joseph A. Shay, who was withdrawn as chief of counsel for Becker, represented the former police lieutenant for the last time and tried to secure further delay, but failed.

Admiral Badger Sails.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Hampton Roads, Va., April 15.—After being delayed for more than an hour by heavy fog which settled down just after they had weighed anchor, the dreadnaughts under command of Rear Admiral Badger sailed for Tampico at 12:20 o'clock this afternoon. At 12:45 the last of the undecolored vessels passed out of the tapes with the flagship Arkansas in the lead.

Movements of Tows.

The tug Pocahontas is bound up the river with the tow from New York. Many barges are coming down the river, the principal cargoes being brick and ice. Much local brick is being sent into New York but not as much as will go down later when building operations will be in full swing. There is some complaint that ice is not moving fast in New York owing to the cool weather.

Trackless Trolley Incorporated.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, April 15.—The Kingston-Ellenville Trackless Trolley Company, Inc., of Ulster county, has been incorporated in the office of the secretary of state. The company will do a transportation business, operate trackless cars, etc. The capital is $5,000 and the directors are John Purcell, George J. Giger and Frank Leonard, all of Paterson, N. J.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Dutch Church will give an entertainment in the chapel on Wednesday evening, April 29.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

W. F. Wright of New York city has delivered an Auburn car to Charles Snyder of Delaware avenue, this city. It is the only car like it in the city. It has all modern equipments and is one of the latest type.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

A ten pound daughter was welcomed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mann, 83 Broadway, this morning.

Mrs. Thomas McGowan of Tompkins street was taken to the Benedictine Sanitarium this morning for an operation.

Mrs. George Lowther went to Saugerties on Monday to see Mrs. Paul Snyder, who has been seriously ill the past five weeks.

The condition of Dr. B. W. Gifford of Saugerties, who contracted blood poisoning while operating, is improved today. He is in the Benedictine Sanitarium under the care of Dr. Mark O'Meara.

Tug G. W. Decker, which plies about New York harbor, is at his home here with a painfully sprained wrist. The other night in New York he tripped over a sawyer and fell heavily to the deck, the injury resulting.

Mrs. J. Depew of High Falls and the Misses Mildred Myers and Gladys Lampman of Catskill, who were in Kingston to attend the wedding of William Lowther to Anna Dorothy Hoching, have returned to their homes.

DOLLAR DAY WEDNESDAY, APR. 22nd

HOW WE HAVE COUNTY AUDITORS

Apply Committee Given Another Name to Satisfy the Comptroller's Clerks — Resolutions Regarding State Roads are Adopted.

The board of supervisors held a special meeting this morning at the court house to consider state road matters and also to take action in regard to the ruling of the bright bookkeepers from the state comptroller's office who recently notified county Treasurer Snyder not to pay any bills of the county audited by the supply committee of the board as the bills were illegal simply because the supply committee did not bear the more dignified name of county auditors, and a lengthy resolution was introduced by Supervisor Hartshorn changing the name of the supply committee to that of county auditors which was unanimously adopted.

The first business that was taken up was the consideration of communications from the state highway department in regard to several highways for which specifications had been changed and which increased the cost of building them.

Supervisor Merrihew offered a resolution that there be raised in the county the sum of $8,435 to pay the county's share of the construction of the Cold Brook-Beechford and Ashokan reservoir highway in the town of Olive, a distance of 1.13 miles. The road would cost $24,100, of which amount the state pays 65 per cent amounting to $15,665, and the county 35 per cent. Carried.

Supervisor DuBois offered a resolution that the sum of $3,937.50 be raised in the county to pay its share of the Perrine's Bridge-Rosedale highway, in the town of Rosendale. The state pays $7,312.50 of the total cost of $11,250. Carried.

Supervisor Vanderlin offered a resolution that the sum of $25,620 be raised in the county to pay its share of the cost of construction of the New Paltz-Plattekill highway in the town of Plattekill, a distance of 5.92 miles. The state pays $47,580 as its share of the cost. The village of New Paltz pays $10,000 as its share for extra work. Carried.

Supervisor Charles Schoonmaker offered a resolution that the attention of the state highway commission be called to the dangerous crossing near the West Park station and an over-head bridge should be constructed. Carried.

Supervisor Fratcher offered a resolution that the state highway department be requested to construct that part of the highway beginning at the westerly end of county highway 142 and running to West Saugerties as early in 1915 as possible. Carried.

Supervisor Woolsey offered a resolution that the state highway commission be asked that in constructing the road between the two villages to dock that it use paving brick and make the road 16 feet in width. Carried.

Supervisor Haynes offered a resolution that the state highway department be requested to construct a road beginning at the town of Marlborough and town of Saugerties, and then running along the highway, a distance of 7 miles as early as possible. Carried.

In regard to Fox Bounties.

Supervisor Bennett offered a resolution changing section 2, article 6, of the laws of the county in regard to fox bounties and providing that the killing of fox shall be proved to the satisfaction of the supervisor and not requiring an affidavit signed by a notary public. Carried.

The resolution was introduced owing to the fact that it was hard to locate a notary public and that as long as the supervisor was satisfied that the fox had been killed that the one who shot the fox did not have to secure the signature of a notary public to an affidavit. It was carried unanimously.

Now County Auditors.

Owing to the fact that the bookkeepers from the state comptroller's office had found fault with the name of supply committee declaring for some reason that it was illegal, the following resolution introduced by Supervisor Hartshorn was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 152 of the Laws of 1910, constituting Article Twelve A of Chapter II of the Consolidated Laws of New York, as amended, that Philip Schantz, William W. McElhorne, and Edgar T. Shutlis, be and they hereby are, appointed county auditors of the county of Ulster, for the term commencing at the time of the adoption of this resolution, and ending on the 31st day of December, 1915; and the said auditors shall receive and be paid the sum of $4.00 per actual expenses for each day actually spent in performing their duties as such officers, as and for their compensation. Such auditors shall also act as a county purchasing committee and the office of the auditors or committee shall be the office of the clerk of the board of supervisors, and such office shall be open at such times as the office of the clerk of the board of supervisors is open. And be it further

Resolved, that such county auditors shall have the power and authority to purchase supplies of every nature and kind for all county officers, including gas and electricity, except for the office of the superintendent of the poor, and all supplies for county buildings except county poor buildings; and they shall have full and exclusive power to order and contract for all necessary repairs for county buildings or property, except county poor buildings; and to audit and pay all bills or claims against the county for supplies for county officers, county offices or county buildings, and for repairs and maintenance of county buildings. And the clerk of this board shall act as clerk of the county auditors, or purchasing committee,

Y. M. C. A. GLEE CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT

The Y. M. C. A. Glee Club, under the direction of Floyd H. Vogt, will give its first concert on Tuesday, May 5, 1914, in the Association Hall. The club will be assisted by Miss Ruth Harris, soprano soloist, of New York city, who possesses a voice of rare quality. Miss Harris comes highly recommended by some of the for and during the term above mentioned and he shall receive for acting as such, a salary of $25 per month.

Resolved, that such county auditors shall meet on the first Monday of every month at the office of said auditors, and at such other times as may be necessary, for the purpose of auditing and paying bills and claims against the county, and for the purpose of performing such other duties as may be incumbent upon them. At such monthly meetings, the auditors shall audit such bills as may have been presented to them, and pay them by issuing certificates or warrants drawn by the chairman and clerk of the auditors, upon the county treasurer; and it shall be their duty at such meeting to furnish the county treasurer with a statement of all bills or claims so audited. And be it further

Resolved, that the county treasurer be and he hereby is, authorized and directed to pay the warrants or certificates issued by said auditors upon presentation of the same. And be it further

Resolved, that the several officers of the county, except the superintendent of the poor, be and they hereby are directed to furnish to said auditors, at their said monthly meetings, a statement or requisition of all supplies which may be needed by them, and of all repairs needed in and about the buildings by them. Such statement or requisition shall be made out in itemized form and shall be signed by the officer making such statement or requisition, or by his authorized agent or clerk. No supplies shall be purchased or repairs ordered by said auditors unless such statement or requisition is made out and signed as above; and no claim shall be audited or paid by said auditors for supplies furnished to any county officer, or for any repairs made in or about the county buildings, unless such supplies or repairs were ordered by said auditors. And be it further

Resolved, that said auditors shall render their report to the board of supervisors at its annual meeting in November, which report shall contain a statement showing from whom such supplies were purchased and by whom such repairs were made; the amount allowed for the same and the date of payment therefor, to which statement or report shall be attached the requisitions and vouchers for such supplies or repairs, which shall be a part of said report. And be it further

Resolved, that the clerk of this board be and he hereby is directed to forward a copy of this resolution to each county officer, except superintendent of the poor.

To Tear Down Frame Buildings.

Supervisor Rifenbary offered a resolution that the frame buildings on John street to which the county recently acquired title be torn down and that the chairman of the board and clerk be authorized to advertise them for sale and that they be sold at public auction at the front door of the court house on May 5, 1914, the purchaser to remove the building within 30 days and the ground to be filled in and graded. Carried.

Release Granted.

A communication from County Attorney John W. Eckert was read asking that the board grant a release to the D'Olier Centrifugal Pump and Machine Company which had an aqueduct contract in the town of Marlborough. The communication stated that no expense had been incurred to the county from criminal cases by employees of the company.

Supervisor Hasbrouck offered a resolution that the release asked for be granted. Carried.

The Insurance Policies.

Owing to the fact that all insurance policies had to be paid within 30 days and that in the past the agents had been obliged to pay the premiums out of their own pockets and then wait until the annual session of the board of supervisors before their bills were paid, it was decided to obviate that difficulty by making all policies fall due on the first of December of each year and Supervisor Schantz offered a resolution to that effect which was adopted.

Armory for Exhibit.

Supervisor Quigley asked that the board and Captain Meagher of Company M allow the use of the armory for a "save the baby" exhibit to be held under the auspices best authority in musical circles, and she is offered as a treat to the Kingston people. The club will also be assisted by Mrs. George D. Beckwith, contralto, who is one of our best local soloists. The membership of the club is composed of 25 young men, all of whom have good voices. With its fine selection of music the club promises to give a concert that will be very enjoyable and well worth while. The central Y. M. C. A. deserves a great deal of credit in conducting an organization of this kind, and the club should have the cooperation of the city. All seats will be reserved, the price being 50 and 75 cents each. Most of the 75 cent tickets will be mailed, but in case your name should be overlooked, kindly call the Y. M. C. A. at once as the tickets are being sold rapidly. The 50 cent tickets may be procured from any member of the club whose names are as follows: George D. Beckwith, Albert Britt, Sidney Wetternhahn, William Williams, Kenneth Everett, Ulysses French, Lester C. Elmendorf, Clarence Schoonmaker, Frank Finley, Roy Greene, Ralph Glendonning, Harry Elmendorf, Eugene Freer, Clyde Vogt, Elwood Riel, Leo Van Valkenberg, Lamont Burhans, La Fayette Moore, Robert Pleasants, Clifford Moore, William Anderson, Frank Taylor, Charles Terwilliger, Floyd H. Vogt, and George Mac Nabb.

of the local board of health and the request was granted.

Romeyn Building to be Used.

Supervisor Schermerhorn moved that the rooms on the first floor of the Romeyn building on John street now used as a boarding house, be used for the county laboratory. Carried.

Supervisor Rifenbary moved that the board of county auditors be authorized to solicit bids for alterations to be made in the Romeyn building so that it could be used for the offices of the county superintendent of highways, board of elections, county sealer of weights and measures, county laboratory and office of the Ulster County Farm Bureau. Carried.

Supervisor Woolsey moved that all bills against the towns, for insane and dependent children placed in institutions, be sent to the town board and the supervisor of each town so that it would be aware of what the town was paying. Carried.

A special committee was appointed to audit bills against the county and to report back to the meeting to be held Thursday.

Board Adjourns.

The board on motion then took a recess until Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Kuyk Eout Officers.

The annual election of officers of the Kuyk Eout Club was held at the meeting of the club in St. John's Parish House last evening at half after seven o'clock. The election which was unanimous resulted as follows: President, Miss Helen Britt; vice president, Mrs. Albert Salisbury; treasurer, Miss Laura Snow; secretary, Miss Helen Thomas. At the close of the business session there was an informal rehearsal of the play, "The Unlucky Scarab Pin." It was decided that there should be a special meeting of the club again on Friday evening of this week at the parish house for another rehearsal.

HAZING OF GIRL ONLY PLAY. SO SAYS PURDUE STUDENT PAPER. (Miss Mabel Rogers.)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 15.—In spite of the stand of the Exponent the college paper of Purdue University, which defended the seven senior co-eds accused of hazing Miss Mabel Rogers, college student, sentiment is divided. The paper declared the hazing, if the complaint was true, was only a form of "horseplay" practiced in every university and expressed regret that the case should go into court. Miss Rogers has entered suit against the seven seniors for $7,000 damages. She charges that the co-eds stripped her of all her clothing, painted her body with red ink, poured nuchilage down her back, submitted her to indignities and after sticking her with pins threw her into a tub of cold water.

ONE WAY TO PAY A DEBT.

A Suit That Lincoln Settled in His Own Peculiar Manner.

A crack brained attorney who lived in Springfield, supported mainly by the other lawyers of the place, became indebted in the sum of $250 to a wealthy citizen of the county. The creditor, failing after repeated efforts to collect the amount due him, came to Mr. Lincoln and asked him to bring suit. Lincoln explained the man's condition and circumstances and advised his client to let the matter rest, but the creditor's temper was up, and he insisted on bringing suit. Again Lincoln urged him to let the matter drop, adding,

"You can make nothing out of him, and it will cost you a good deal more than the debt to bring suit."

The creditor was still determined to have his way and threatened to seek some other attorney who would be more willing to take charge of the matter than Lincoln appeared to be. Lincoln then said, "Well, if you are determined that suit shall be brought I will bring it, but my charge will be $10." The creditor paid over the money and gave peremptory orders that the suit should be brought that very day.

After his client's departure Lincoln went out of the office. He returned in about an hour with an amused look on his face. I asked what pleased him, and he replied: "I brought suit against — and then hunted him up, told him what I had done, handed him half of the $10, and we went over to the squire's office. He confessed judgment and paid the bill." Lincoln added that he did not see any other way to make things so generally satisfactory.—"The Everyday Life of Abraham Lincoln."

SLEIGHTSBURGH BRIDGE OFFICIALLY DESCRIBED

State Highway Department Engineer in Official Publication of State Highway Department Fully Describes the Bridge That the State Will Build Here Under Authority of the Cook Law.

The last issue of New York Highway News, the official bulletin of the state highway department, prints a description by Frank A. Hermans, engineer of bridges, New York state highway department, of the proposed Sleightsburgh bridge. The article is as follows, the statements that the bridge crosses West Shore tracks and the Rondout canal being made by Mr. Hermans, not by The Freeman:

On the west side of the Hudson river the state highway commission is constructing a new highway known as Route 3, which starts at New York city and passes through Ball's Lake, West Point and the cities of Newburgh and Kingston. This country is famous for its beautiful scenery and history. Kingston, which is situated in Ulster county, is one of the first settled places in America. During the war of the rebellion of the American colonies against England, Kingston was the capital of the colony of New York. It has the distinction of having been burned once by the Indians and once by the British. Kingston has steadily progressed since the date of its first settlement in spite of its various setbacks, and at the present time has a population of about thirty thousand.

Rondout creek flows into the Hudson at Kingston and furnishes a harbor for navigation. This harbor is the center of the towing business on the river, and here are stored, during the winter, fifty or more tug boats, the property of the Cornell Steamboat Company, which owns about all the tugs on the Hudson river. The United States government is preparing plans to dredge Rondout creek so that the minimum depth of water will be eighteen feet. On the completion of this dredging the harbor of Rondout creek will have greatly increased facilities for the handling of river traffic.

Parallel with Rondout creek is Rondout canal. This canal is now closed; it originally extended from the Hudson river to Honesdale, Pennsylvania. At Kingston this canal is open and serves as part of the harbor of Rondout creek.

At Kingston the Rondout creek is at present crossed by means of a ferry operated by a chain, which is antiquated and not at all suited to highway traffic on a state route. It is therefore necessary for the state to construct a bridge over this creek to accommodate traffic. Various locations have been suggested—one known as the low bridge to contain a movable span to allow the boats to pass through; this is known as a low bridge because the floor is only about fifteen feet above the water level. Another bridge is known as a high bridge because it is placed so high above the river that a movable span is not necessary. The annual cost of maintenance and operation of a movable span is considerable and because the high bridge does not require such a span and is sufficient for the traffic on Route 3, the high bridge, about 1,200 feet long, has been selected as the one to be constructed.

The secretary of war demands that the clearance above the surface of the water of the creek shall be seventy feet and that the minimum width shall be 120 feet. There is only one satisfactory location available which meets these requirements and that is the construction of the bridge on an extension of the center line of Wurts street. Wurts street is now paved and leads into the main thoroughfare of Kingston, and it is also at such an elevation that the approaches of a high bridge can be constructed without excessive grades. This location requires the bridge to be built over the Rondout creek, the Rondout canal, four tracks of the West Shore Railroad and a county highway. A satisfactory high bridge in any location would have to be built over these same lines of transportation.

The borings taken at the site of this proposed bridge show that rock is about fifty-seven feet under the surface of the water and practically level until it intersects the existing slope of the hills on each side of the river. Two types of construction are available—a viaduct and a series of concrete arches. An estimate of each shows that a steel viaduct in which the steel is entirely encased in concrete and the structure ornamented will cost about $200,000, and that the concrete arch bridge will cost about $250,000. Since the steel of the viaduct is encased in concrete it should have a life as long as that of concrete arches; therefore, on account of the less expense it has been selected as the one to be constructed.

There is also in favor of the viaduct the fact that the approach will begin at the intersection of Wurts street and Abel street, whereas the arched bridge would have to cross over Abel street and extend up Wurts street about 200 feet, thus eliminating the traffic on Abel street from the direct use of the bridge. This viaduct will be constructed of alternate deck truss and tower spans. The truss spans will be 160 feet long and the tower spans about twenty feet long. The towers will be thoroughly braced together in the regular viaduct style. All steel will be encased in concrete after which the exterior of the towers and the trusses will be covered with some form of expanded metal which will be plastered with cement plaster, the same as in building construction. This covering with expanded metal and plaster is for the sole purpose of ornamentation. At each end of the viaduct proper will be a trestle type of construction of solid concrete piers, forming bents, and solid concrete floor.

Foundations of the viaduct will be concrete piers which will extend about four feet below the bed of the creek. There will be two piers for each tower which will be connected at their ends so that from the outside instead of there appearing to be two piers there will seem to be only a massive one. These piers will be hollow on the inside, but they will be of sufficient strength to withstand any blow or load that they will receive.

It will be necessary to construct a coffer dam to build the piers, the one that will be used here will probably be made of steel sheet piling which will be driven ten feet or more into the mud bottom of the creek entirely surrounding the pier. Heavy timber bracing will be provided to keep this sheet piling in its proper place so that when the water is pumped out from the inside of the coffer dam the water pressure on the outside will not demolish it. There is not likely to be much trouble from freshets in this location because the maximum rise and fall of Rondout creek is only a few feet.

After having pumped out the coffer dam it will be necessary to excavate the river bottom for the bottom of the pier, then drive wooden piles down so that the end of each pile bears firmly on the rock, fifty-seven feet below. These piles will be about three feet apart and each one will be approximately forty feet long. Having driven piles and sawed off the top to an elevation of about one foot above the bottom of the piers a wooden form will be built of the shape of the pier and filled with concrete and large stones all thoroughly bonded together. The tops of these piers will be about ten feet above the water line, which height is sufficient to take care of high water.

The piers in the creek will have rounded noses to act as ice breakers and turn away the ice without damage of the bridge. After the piers have been constructed the steel work will be assembled and completely riveted together. This steel will be fabricated by workmen in a shop located at some place undoubtedly remote from Kingston, and shipped to the site of the bridge. This steel will be fabricated in such a way that it will be shipped in parts, each part no larger than can be conveniently handled, and when it arrives at the site it will be fitted together to make a completed steel framework for the bridge. So accurately will these parts be made that they will go together and accurately fit like the parts of a modern piece of machinery. When the steel work has been riveted together all steel will be encased in concrete and at the same time that this concrete is being deposited the floors for the roadway and sidewalk will be formed also of concrete.

The roadway will be twenty-four feet wide between curbs and the sidewalk will be paved with vitrified brick. The posts forming the bents of the concrete trestle at each end of the viaduct will be about two feet square and will have steel embedded in them to increase their strength. These posts will be built on piers founded on rock. Upon the completion of the posts a floor for the roadway and sidewalk will be constructed on their tops of steel rods and first-class concrete.

After the completion of the viaduct and the trestle approaches the ornamental concrete railings will be built. These railings will be three and one-half feet high above the sidewalk and one foot thick. They will be neatly panelled and ornamented.

The towers of the viaduct will be constructed of such a width that at the top, bays with seats, will be formed for purposes of observation and recreation.

In the design and construction of this bridge provision will be made for a single line of electric railway tracks. This will be done by the addition of suitable steel to the frameposts so that when the tracks are laid the additional weight will be safely carried without breaking the floor. These tracks will be located on the side opposite to the sidewalk.

Each bay will be furnished with an electric light; each lamp will be of suitable candle power and will be mounted on an ornamental concrete post. The wires for the lighting system will be placed in conduits located under the floor. These conduits will be constructed of sufficient capacity to take care of any additional wires required by telephone and telegraph companies and for other purposes. Provision will also be made for water and gas mains.

On account of the high bank at the south end of the bridge and the elevation of the north end of the bridge it is necessary to build this bridge on a three per cent grade to avoid an excessive rock cut through this hill at the south. At the south end of the bridge a six per cent grade commences extending up through the hill, necessitating a cut in the rock of about twenty-five feet. From the top of the hill to the existing highway is a distance of about 700 feet through a farming country of rather uneven surface and not very valuable. A new highway will be constructed through these lands connecting the existing highway with that constructed through the rock cut and thus conduct traffic on Route 3 across the bridge into the city of Kingston.

New York, April 15.—Although a number of the standard issues began at a lower price range at the opening of the stock market today, the undertone was steady. In a number of instances issues which began fractionally off rallied and recovered and made gains. The overnight developments in the Mexican situation and the possibilities from that quarter failed to have the depressing effect which had been anticipated, although Mexican Petroleum was under pressure, yielding more than one point in the first few minutes. Some traders were comparatively heavy sellers but the absorption was good. United States Steel common began with a loss of 1/4 but quickly recovered and made a net gain. Similar advances after opening losses were recorded in Union Pacific, Reading, Lehigh Valley and Amalgamated Copper. Canadian Pacific was in good demand going to 200 1/4 for an advance of 5/8. Southern Pacific opened unchanged but immediately gained 1/4. St. Paul began 1/2 lower but recovered. The curb was steady. American securities in London were quiet but their tone was firm. The Mexican situation was the chief feature of interest relative to the action of American shares. Canadian Pacific in London advanced more than a point.

Noon.—The tone was steady in the late forenoon. The pressure in evidence for the past few days had for the time at least disappeared. Missouri, Kansas and Texas preferred was weak however declining 1/4 to 28 1/2. United States Steel common advanced 1/4. Union Pacific 5/8. Amalgamated Copper 1/2. Reading 1/4. Other issues slightly higher. Call money leading at 1 1/2 per cent.

2:30 p. m.—In the last hour a number of stocks were under their early range but there were no features in the price movements. Union Pacific held at 155 1/4 for the loss of 5/8 from noon and Canadian Pacific was 1/4 under its midday quotation. Reading sold around 162 1/2, the same price at which it opened. The tone was quiet.

The market closed steady. Governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

Quotations furnished by John D. Kline, Broadway and Strand, Kingston, N. Y., Tel. 93. Correspondent of C. H. Van Buren & Company, members of Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York.

SOCIETY NOTES.

This evening Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Connelly and Mr. and Mrs. David A. Shaw will entertain at a dance at Burgevin Hall.

Miss Ruth Glendening of 263 Smith avenue entertained a few of her friends on Monday evening in honor of Chester Britt Rifkenburg, who is spending his Easter vacation with his parents in this city.

Mrs. George Lowther of Hasbrouck avenue gave a wedding supper on Easter to a large party of relatives and friends in honor of Mildred Lowther and bride, who were married April 10 at the Holy Cross Church.

At six this evening the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Turck on Fair street will be the scene of a brilliant wedding, when Miss Hazel Belle Turck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Turck, and George Bowen Hinds of Washington, D. C. will be married.

A farewell surprise party was given Edward Brandes at his home on Stephan street on Tuesday evening by the choir of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church. The entertainment consisted of music and games, after which light luncheon was served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Demken, Mr. H. Topp, Lydia Kellermann, Clara Koch, Amanda Hahn, Amelia Schuman, Minnie Isomana, Lizzie Puffaff, Dorothy Demgen, Henry Bode, Gustave Koch and Louis Wiegert. Mr. Brandes left this city this morning for New York.

On Monday evening a reception and shower was tendered to Jenny S. Cudney and sister, Willibelle, at their home, 1844 Coney Island avenue, Brooklyn. The parlors were decorated with potted ferns and palms overhung with silk streamers of red, white and blue ribbons, a slight not soon to be forgotten. After congratulations were exchanged, Frank Vilevo rendered a selection on the violin and Miss "Billie" Cudney recited "Noonday" by Livingston, after which the guests proceeded to the dining room where a bountiful collation awaited them. On leaving the room each one of the guests presented Mr. Cudney and sister with a token of their love, all of which were very handsome and rare. The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McCann of Selma, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. C. Cudney of Ashken, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Daniel V. Stewart of Boston, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. George L. Phillips of Kingston, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vedder, New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Robert King, New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cudney, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cudney, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Brainard, Mr. and Mrs. H. Couron, New York city; Mr. and Mrs. P. May, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dingman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cudney, Brooklyn; Mr. Adams, Windsor, Mr. Cudney, Misses Ada Cudney, M. Safford, E. Riese, M. Riese, M. T. Willard, A. Cudney, Z. Short, W. Cudney, Mrs. F. Vilevo, Mrs. J. Cudney, Mrs. A. Rowe, Mrs. V. Hart, and Master Charles Cudney, Jr. Gifts received were cut glass, silverware and linens, and Big Ben from V. Hart and many other handsome pieces. Dancing and singing were enjoyed until the " wee hours" of the morning, all returning to their homes very much pleased wishing for the next shower to come soon.

Murphy-Smith.

Miss Myrtle Smith of New Paltz and James A. Murphy of New York were married this afternoon at 1 o'clock in St. Joseph's Church at New Paltz.

The Sleightshburgh Bridge Robbery.

The Brotherhood of Trinity Methodist Church will stage a mock trial on Friday evening of this week which is quite unique in its conception, replete with fun and rich in imagination. The crime is supposed to be committed in the year 1939 A. D. The witnesses will incidentally portray the conditions and manner of life twenty-five years hence. This imaginary glimpse into the future of our city will be exceedingly interesting and stimulating. One James Blackeslee, alias S. E. Elphmeyer, is charged with the robbery of Samuel Watts, treasurer of the United Protestant Church of Kingston, a resident of the town of Esopus in the city of Greater Kingston. There will be a mixed jury, including some prominent suffragettes. W. D. Hale will be the presiding judge. H. H. Fleming will represent the people and L. L. Osterhout the defendant. Addison Pardee will be court clerk, Frank Thompson a plain-clothes man, Ernest Ritch police officer and Dr. J. S. Robinson, alienist.

Holy Cross Beat St. John's.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

S. Francis Quick, publisher of the Yonkers Statesman, died on Monday at his home in that place after a year's illness aged 84 years. He was president of S. F. Quick & Sons, Inc., builders. His wife, who was born in Rhodebeck. His wife, two sons and two daughters, survive.

Mary Perkins Warner, wife of Peter B. Warner, died at her home this morning. She was a daughter of the late Dr. Ebenezer K. Perkins and is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mary, wife of George H. Decker of Bay Ridge. The funeral will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock from the family residence, No. 14 Abeel street.

The body of the man killed at Summitville last Tuesday has been identified as that of David Eller, a resident of Walden. He left his home that day and nothing was heard of him until Thursday when word was received from relatives that they had identified the body. Mrs. Eller, who was living in Liberty, went to the scene and identified the body by means of initials tattooed on his arm. He is survived by his wife and three daughters, Mrs. C. K. Hornbeck of Liberty, Mrs. Harry Champaign of Nanapanoch and Mrs. Floyd DeVoe of Walden. The funeral was held on Sunday in Walden.

The funeral of Fireman James J. Brennan was held this morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Mary's Church where mass was celebrated by the Rev. John J. Hickey, who also paid a warm tribute of eulogy to the memory of the deceased. The bearers were LaRue Weber, James Conlin and George Brown of the paid fire department and Thomas Murray, John McGovern and Charles J. Graess of Weiner hose company. Preceding the hearse in the funeral cortege were the board of fire commissioners and Clerk B. J. Hornbeck, Deputy Chief Joseph Murphy and a large delegation from Weiner hose company and other organizations. There was a profusion of floral tributes. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. When the funeral was passing the city hall the fire alarm bell tolled mournfully until the last carriage had passed.

Cakes and Delegates.

The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's Church will hold a cake and food sale in the parish house on Wall street on Saturday of this week at two o'clock. As many ladies of the parish as can find it convenient to do so are requested to make cakes for this sale, while those who cannot make cakes and the friends of the parish and general public are invited to patronize the sale and purchase the cakes, for upon the number of cakes sold will depend an important project of the auxiliary. At the close of the sale there will be a business meeting at which time plans, depending of course upon the proceeds of the sale, will be made for sending a delegate or delegates to the mass meeting to be held in New York on May 22, for the further purpose of seeing what can be done to form a mission study class among the women of the auxiliary. Ladies, please bake or buy or do both next Saturday.

Minstrel Rehearsal.

There will be an important meeting of those young men who are to take part in the coming minstrel entertainments at St. John's Church at the parish house this evening. All who will take part in the minstrels next week Friday and Saturday evenings are urged to attend the rehearsal tonight. Incidentally the public is informed that several additional inspirations of a decidedly humorous nature have been received by the young men and for once all the laughing muscles of one's anatomy will be well exercised if one attend the minstrels next week.

Dr. Rummel Sails.

The Very Rev. Dr. Joseph F. Rummel, rector of St. Peter's Church, left Tuesday for New York on today in company with the Rev. Michael A. Xuefeld, a native of Kingston, sailed for a three months' trip to Rome and the Holy Land. William Derrnacher, Nicholas Stoll, Senator Jacob Rice and Michael A. Reis of St. Peter's congregation went to New York to bid him voyage to the departing clergyman.

Becker Trial May 6.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, April 15.—The second trial of ex-Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was today set for May 6th by Justice Seabury in the criminal branch of the supreme court. Joseph A. Shay, who was withdrawn as chief of counsel for Becker, represented the former police lieutenant for the last time and tried to secure further delay, but failed.

Admiral Badger Sails.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Hampton Roads, Va., April 15.—After being delayed for more than an hour by heavy fog which settled down just after they had weighed anchor, the dreadnaughts under command of Rear Admiral Badger sailed for Tampa at 12:20 o'clock this afternoon. At 12:45 the last of the undecolored vessels passed out of the capes with the flagship Arkansas in the lead.

Movements of Tows.

The tug Pocahontas is bound up the river with the tow from New York. Many barges are coming down the river, the principal cargoes being brick and ice. Much local brick is being sent into New York but not as much as will go down later when building operations will be in full swing. There is some complaint that ice is not moving fast in New York owing to the cool weather.

DIED.

WARNER.—In this city, Wednesday, April 15, Mary Perkins, wife of Peter B. Warner.

Funeral Friday at 11 a. m., from the family residence, No. 14 Abeel street. Please omit flowers.

Brooklyn papers please copy.

ODDS A'D ENDS.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Dutch Church will give an entertainment in the chapel on Wednesday evening, April 29.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

W. F. Wright of New York city has delivered an Auburn car to Charles Snyder of Delaware avenue, this city. It is the only car like it in the city. It has all modern equipments and is one of the latest type.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

A ten pound daughter was welcomed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mann, 83 Broadway, this morning.

Mrs. Thomas McGowan of Tompkins street was taken to the Benedictine Sanitarium this morning for an operation.

Mrs. George Lowther went to Saugerties on Monday to see Mrs. Paul Snyder, who has been seriously ill the past five weeks.

The condition of Dr. B. W. Gifford of Saugerties, who contracted blood poisoning while operating, is improved today. He is in the Benedictine Sanitarium under the care of Dr. Mark O'Meara.

tug G. W. Decker, which plies about New York harbor, is at his home here with a painfully sprained wrist. The other night in New York he tripped over a hawser and fell heavily to the deck, the injury resulting.

ONLY 18 STARS DEVELOPED

Of the 150 Recruits Tried Out by the Sixteen Big League Clubs, but Few Are Kept in Line-Ups.

More than 150 ball players were either bought or drafted from the minor leagues last season by major league clubs. Looking over the line-ups of the 16 big league teams, only 18 new names have appeared regularly this season. In other words, of the 150 recruits tried out this season only 18 made good.

Think of the expense involved! Think of the scouts' salaries, the money spent in railroad fares and expenses sending men around the country looking for material, to say nothing of the fortunes paid into the coffers of the minor league clubs to secure these new men. And only 18 out of more than 150.

The Tigers have three new ones and are lucky. Bobby Veach, Ray McKee and George Daus are the Tiger recruits who made good. The Naps have Chapman. St. Louis presents Levern, a pitcher, and Agnew, a catcher. The White Sox have a crack catcher, Ray Schalk, and Comiskey can also boast of "Red" Russell, one of the pitching "finds" of the season. The New York Yanks found nobody and the Red Sox are in the same boat, but they did not waste much time looking for new material, Boston preferring to stand pat on the championship team of 1913. Philadelphia has Schang, Shawkey and E. Murphy and Washington boasts of Joe Boehling.

In the National league, New York got Demaree, a pitcher, Boston found a crack infielder in Maranville, and the Pirates got a star in Viox.

Hap Meyers, also of Boston, was the only recruit first sacker. Stengel of the Dodgers and Connelly of Boston were the outfield "finds" in the National. There is a club composed of recruits who made good last year: Catchers—Schalk, Schang and McKee.

Pitchers—Russell, Daus, Demaree, Boehling and Shawkey. Infielders—Myers, Maranville, Chapman and Viox.

Outfielders—E. Murphy, Stengel, Veach and Connelly. Collected on one club this line-up could furnish several of the major league teams with plenty of argument, not to mention a large number of defeats. As a whole these newcomers are fast, brainy and good hitters.

SUCCESS DEPENDS ON WORK

Honesty of Umpire Is Essential and Losing Temper Means He's Gone, Says William Klem.

"An umpire's success depends entirely upon his integrity," says William Klem. "He is like a young player breaking into first company. He must do his level best in order to prove his value and thereby command as much salary as possible. If an umpire loses his temper and tries to give a team the worst of it he is gone. It was particularly gratifying to me when President Johnson of the American league, praised me for my work in the world's series, yet I umpired those games with as much care as if they had been regular National league championship contests.

"The umpire's lot is not always pleasant, and many of us are blamed unjustly. But after that decision by Connolly in the second game of the world's series, which deprived the Athletics of victory, I believe the public realizes that umpires are honest. Connolly called Strunk out at the plate just as he saw the play. He could have declared Strunk safe without raising a just howl of protest from anyone. But unimpaired by the fact that he was employed by the American league, he made a ruling that proved his fairness. All umpires make mistakes, but umpires are only human."

Billy Evans has admitted frequently that he gave a decision in the series between the Giants and the New York Americans in 1910 that probably deprived the latter of victory. He called Jack Knight out at first base and prevented two men from scoring. Yet, immediately after the game Evans declared that he had erred. His integrity, however, excused him.

HOW WE HAVE COUNTY AUDITORS

Y.M.C.A. GLEE CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT

Supply Committee Given Another Name to Satisfy the Comptroller's Clerks — Resolutions Regarding State Roads are Adopted.

The board of supervisors held a special meeting this morning at the court house to consider state road matters and also to take action in regard to the ruling of the bright bookkeepers from the state comptroller's office who recently notified county Treasurer Snyder not to pay any bills of the county audited by the supply committee of the board as the bills were illegal simply because the supply committee did not bear the more dignified name of county auditors, and a lengthy resolution was introduced by Supervisor Hartshorn changing the name of the supply committee to that of county auditors which was unanimously adopted.

The first business that was taken up was the consideration of communications from the state highway department in regard to several highways for which specifications had been changed and which increased the cost of building them.

Supervisor Merrihew offered a resolution that there be raised in the county the sum of $8,435 to pay the county's share of the construction of the Cold Brook-Beechford and Ashokan reservoir highway in the town of Olive, a distance of 1.13 miles. The road would cost $24,100, of which amount the state pays 65 per cent amounting to $15,665, and the county 35 per cent. Carried.

Supervisor DuBois offered a resolution that the sum of $3,937.50 be raised in the county to pay its share of the Perrine's Bridge-Rosendale highway, in the town of Rosendale. The state pays $7,312.50 of the total cost of $11,250. Carried.

Supervisor Vanderlyn offered a resolution that the sum of $25,620 be raised in the county to pay its share of the cost of construction of the New Paltz-Plattekill highway in the town of Plattekill, a distance of 5.92 miles. The state pays $47,580 as its share of the cost. The village of New Paltz pays $10,000 as its share for extra work. Carried.

Supervisor Charles Schoonmaker offered a resolution that the attention of the state highway commission be called to the dangerous crossing near the West Park station and an over-bridge should be constructed. Carried.

Supervisor Fratcher offered a resolution that the state highway department be requested to construct that part of the highway beginning at the westerly end of county highway 142 and running to West Saugerties as early in 1915 as possible. Carried.

Supervisor Woolsey offered a resolution that the state highway commission be asked that in constructing the deck that it use paving brick and make the road 16 feet in width. Carried.

Supervisor Haynes offered a resolution that the state highway department be requested to construct a highway beginning at the town of Marlborough and town of Marlborough and then running along the highway, a distance of 7 miles as early as possible. Carried.

In regard to Fox Bounties.

Supervisor Bennett offered a resolution changing section 2, article 6, of the laws of the county in regard to fox bounties and providing that the killing of fox shall be proved to the satisfaction of the supervisor and not requiring an affidavit signed by a notary public. Carried.

The resolution was introduced owing to the fact that it was hard to locate a notary public and that as long as the supervisor was satisfied that the fox had been killed that the one who shot the fox did not have to secure the signature of a notary public to an affidavit. It was carried unanimously.

Now County Auditors.

Owing to the fact that the bookkeepers from the state comptroller's office had found fault with the name of supply committee declaring for some reason that it was illegal, the following resolution introduced by Supervisor Hartshorn was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 152 of the Laws of 1910, constituting Article Twelve A of Chapter II of the Consolidated Laws of New York, as amended, that Philip Schantz, William W. McElhorne, and Edgar T. Shutlis, be and they hereby are, appointed county auditors of the county of Ulster, for the term commencing at the time of the adoption of this resolution, and ending on the 31st day of December, 1915; and the said auditors shall receive and be paid the sum of $4.00 and actual expenses for each day actually spent in performing their duties as such officers, and as for their compensation. Such auditors shall also act as a county purchasing committee and the office of the auditors or committee shall be the office of the clerk of the board of supervisors, and such office shall be open at such times as the office of the clerk of the board of supervisors is open. And be it further

Resolved, that said auditors shall render their report to the board of supervisors at its annual meeting in November, which report shall contain a statement showing from whom such supplies were purchased and by whom such repairs were made; the amount allowed for the same and the date of payment therefor, to which statement or report shall be attached the requisitions and vouchers for such supplies or repairs, which shall be a part of said report. And be it further

Resolved, that the clerk of this board be and he hereby is directed to forward a copy of this resolution to each county officer, except superintendent of the poor.

To Tear Down Frame Buildings.

Supervisor Rifenburg offered a resolution that the frame buildings on John street to which the county recently acquired title be torn down and that the chairman of the board and clerk be authorized to advertise them for sale and that they be sold at public auction at the front door of the court house on May 5, 1914, the purchaser to remove the building within 30 days and the ground to be filled in and graded. Carried.

Release Granted.

A communication from County Attorney John W. Eckert was read asking that the board grant a release to the D'Olier Centrifugal Pump and Machine Company which had an aqueduct contract in the town of Marlborough. The communication stated that no expense had been incurred to the county from criminal cases by employees of the company.

Supervisor Hasbrouck offered a resolution that the release asked for be granted. Carried.

The Insurance Policies.

Owing to the fact that all insurance policies had to be paid within 30 days and that in the past the agents had been obliged to pay the premiums out of their own pockets and then wait until the annual session of the board of supervisors before their bills were paid, it was decided to obviate that difficulty by making all policies fall due on the first of December of each year and Supervisor Schantz offered a resolution to that effect which was adopted.

Armory for Exhibit.

Supervisor Quigley asked that the board and Captain Meagher of Company M allow the use of the armory for a "save the baby" exhibit to be held under the auspices

Romeyn Building to be Used.

Supervisor Schermerhorn moved that the rooms on the first floor of the Romeyn building on John street now used as a boarding house, be used for the county laboratory. Carried.

Supervisor Rifenburg moved that the board of county auditors be authorized to solicit bids for alterations to be made in the Romeyn building so that it could be used for the offices of the county superintendent of highways, board of elections, county sealer of weights and measures, county laboratory and office of the Ulster County Farm Bureau. Carried.

Supervisor Woolsey moved that all bills against the town, for income and dependent children placed in institutions, be sent to the town board and the supervisor of each town so that it would be aware of what the town was paying. Carried.

A special committee was appointed to audit bills against the county and to report back to the meeting to be held Thursday.

Board Adjourns.

The board on motion then took a recess until Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Kuyk Eout Officers.

The annual election of officers of the Kuyk Eout Club was held at the meeting of the club in St. John's Parish House last evening at half after seven o'clock. The election which was unanimous resulted as follows: President, Miss Helen Britt; vice president, Mrs. Albert Salisbury; treasurer, Miss Laura Snow; secretary, Miss Helen Thomas. At the close of the business session there was an informal rehearsal of the play, "The Unlucky Scarab Pin." It was decided that there should be a special meeting of the club again on Friday evening of this week at the parish house for another rehearsal.

HAZING OF GIRL ONLY PLAY. SO SAYS PURDUE STUDENT PAPER. (Miss Mabel Rogers.)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 15.—In spite of the stand of the Exponent the college paper of Purdue University, which defended the seven senior co-eds accused of hazing Miss Mabel Rogers, college student, sentiment is divided. The paper declared the hazing, if the complaint was true, was only a form of "horseplay" practiced in every university and expressed regret that the case should go into court. Miss Rogers has entered suit against the seven seniors for $7,000 damages. She charges that the co-eds stripped her of all her clothing, painted her body with red ink, poured muckilage down her back, submitted her to indignities and after sticking her with pins threw her into a tub of cold water.

ONE WAY TO PAY A DEBT.

A Suit That Lincoln Settled in His Own Peculiar Manner.

A crack brained attorney who lived in Springfield, supported mainly by the other lawyers of the place, became indebted in the sum of $2,500 to a wealthy citizen of the county. The creditor, failing after repeated efforts to collect the amount due him, came to Mr. Lincoln and asked him to bring suit. Lincoln explained the man's condition and circumstances and advised his client to let the matter rest, but the creditor's temper was up, and he insisted on bringing suit. Again Lincoln urged him to let the matter drop, adding,

"You can make nothing out of him, and it will cost you a good deal more than the debt to bring suit."

The creditor was still determined to have his way and threatened to seek some other attorney who would be more willing to take charge of the matter than Lincoln appeared to be. Lincoln then said, "Well, if you are determined that suit shall be brought I will bring it, but my charge will be $10." The creditor paid over the money and gave peremptory orders that the suit should be brought that very day.

After his client's departure Lincoln went out of the office. He returned in about an hour with an amused look on his face. I asked what pleased him, and he replied: "I brought suit against — and then hunted him up, told him what I had done, handed him half of the $10, and we went over to the squire's office. He confessed judgment and paid the bill." Lincoln added that he did not see any other way to make things so generally satisfactory. "The Everyday Life of Abraham Lincoln."

SLEIGHTSBURGH BRIDGE
OFFICIALLY DESCRIBED

State Highway Department Engineer in Official Publication of State Highway Department Fully Describes the Bridge That the State Will Build Here Under Authority of the Cook Law.

The last issue of New York Highway News, the official bulletin of the state highway department, prints a description by Frank A. Hermans, engineer of bridges, New York state highway department, of the proposed Sleightsburgh bridge. The article is as follows, the statements that the bridge crosses West Shore tracks and the Rondout canal being made by Mr. Hermans, not by The Freeman:

On the west side of the Hudson river the state highway commission is constructing a new highway known as Route 3, which starts at New York city and passes through Poughkeepsie, West Point and the cities of Newburgh and Kingston. This country is famous for its beautiful scenery and history. Kingston, which is situated in Ulster county, is one of the first settled places in America. During the war of the rebellion of the American colonies against England, Kingston was the capital of the colony of New York. It has the distinction of having been burned once by the Indians and once by the British. Kingston has steadily progressed since the date of its first settlement in spite of its various setbacks, and at the present time has a population of about thirty thousand.

Rondout creek flows into the Hudson at Kingston and furnishes a harbor for navigation. This harbor is the center of the towing business on the river, and here are stored, during the winter, fifty or more tug boats, the property of the Cornell Steamboat Company, which owns about all the tugs on the Hudson river. The United States government is preparing plans to dredge Rondout creek so that the minimum depth of water will be eighteen feet. On the completion of this dredging the harbor of Rondout creek will have greatly increased facilities for the handling of river traffic.

Parallel with Rondout creek is Rondout canal. This canal is now closed; it originally extended from the Hudson river to Honesdale, Pennsylvania. At Kingston this canal is open and serves as part of the harbor of Rondout creek.

At Kingston the Rondout creek is at present crossed by means of a ferry operated by a chain, which is antiquated and not at all suited to highway traffic on a state route. It is therefore necessary for the state to construct a bridge over this creek to accommodate traffic. Various locations have been suggested—one known as the low bridge to contain a movable span to allow the boats to pass through; this is known as a low bridge because the floor is only about fifteen feet above the water level. Another bridge is known as a high bridge because it is placed so high above the river that a movable span is not necessary. The annual cost of maintenance and operation of a movable span is considerable and because the high bridge does not require such a span and is sufficient for the traffic on Route 3, the high bridge, about 1,200 feet long, has been selected as the one to be constructed.

The secretary of war demands that the clearance above the surface of the water of the creek shall be seventy feet and that the minimum width shall be 120 feet. There is only one satisfactory location available which meets these requirements and that is the construction of the bridge on an extension of the center line of Wurts street. Wurts street is now paved and leads into the main thoroughfare of Kingston, and it is also at such an elevation that the approaches of a high bridge can be constructed without excessive grades. This location requires the bridge to be built over the Rondout creek, the Rondout canal, four tracks of the West Shore Railroad and a county highway. A satisfactory high bridge in any location would have to be built over these same lines of transportation.

The borings taken at the site of this proposed bridge show that rock is about fifty-seven feet under the surface of the water and practically level until it intersects the existing slope of the hills on each side of the river. Two types of construction are available—a viaduct and a series of concrete arches. An estimate of each shows that a steel viaduct in which the steel is entirely encased in concrete and the structure ornamented will cost about $200,000, and that the concrete arch bridge will cost about $250,000. Since the steel of the viaduct is encased in concrete it should have a life as long as that of concrete arches; therefore, on account of the less expense it has been selected as the one to be constructed.

There is also in favor of the viaduct the fact that the approach will begin at the intersection of Wurts street and Abel street, whereas the arched bridge would have to cross over Abel street and extend up Wurts street about 200 feet, thus eliminating the traffic on Abel street from the direct use of the bridge. This viaduct will be constructed of alternate deck truss and tower spans. The truss spans will be 150 feet long and the tower spans about twenty feet long. The towers will be thoroughly braced together in the regular viaduct style. All steel will be encased in concrete after which the exterior of the towers and the trusses will be covered with some form of expanded metal which will be plastered with cement plaster, the same as in building construction. This covering with expanded metal and plaster is for the sole purpose of ornamentation. At each end of the viaduct proper will be a trestle type of construction of solid concrete piers, forming bents, and solid concrete floor.

Foundations of the viaduct will be concrete piers which will extend about four feet below the bed of the creek. There will be two piers for each tower which will be connected at their ends so that from the outside instead of there appearing to be two piers there will seem to be only a massive one. These piers will be hollow on the inside, but they will be of sufficient strength to withstand any blow or load that they will receive. It will be necessary to construct a coffer dam to build the piers, the one that will be used here will probably be made of steel sheet piling which will be driven ten feet or more into the mud bottom of the creek entirely surrounding the pier. Heavy timber bracing will be provided to keep this sheet piling in its proper place so that when the water is pumped out from the inside of the coffer dam the water pressure on the outside will not demolish it. There is not likely to be much trouble from freshets in this location because the maximum rise and fall of Rondout creek is only a few feet.

After having pumped out the coffer dam it will be necessary to excavate the river bottom for the bottom of the pier, then drive wooden piles down so that the end of each pile bears firmly on the rock, fifty-seven feet below. These piles will be about three feet apart and each one will be approximately forty feet long. Having driven piles and sawed off the top to an elevation of about one foot above the bottom of the piers a wooden form will be built of the shape of the pier and filled with concrete and large stones, all thoroughly bonded together. The tops of these piers will be about ten feet above the water line, which height is sufficient to take care of high water.

The piers in the creek will have rounded noses to act as ice breakers and turn away the ice without damage of the bridge.

After the piers have been constructed the steel work will be assembled and completely riveted together. This steel will be fabricated by workmen in a shop located at some place undoubtedly remote from Kingston, and shipped to the site of the bridge. This steel will be fabricated in such a way that it will be shipped in parts, each part no larger than can be conveniently handled, and when it arrives at the site it will be fitted together to make a completed steel framework for the bridge. So accurately will these parts be made that they will go together and accurately fit like the parts of a modern piece of machinery. When the steel work has been riveted together all steel will be encased in concrete and at the same time that this concrete is being deposited the floors for the roadway and sidewalk will be formed also of concrete.

The roadway will be twenty-four feet wide between curbs and the sidewalk will be paved with vitrified brick. The posts forming the bents of the concrete trestle at each end of the viaduct will be about two feet

Until further notice steamer Odell will leave Rondout Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 11 a. m. Returning leaves New York Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 4 p. m. CENTRAL HUDSON STEAMBOAT COMPANY.—Advertisement.
